

Zoning Board Recommends Miller Development

Sunbury's Planning and Zoning Commission unanimously recommended approval of the rezoning of a proposed shopping center and apartment complex on the Paul Miller property last Wednesday.

With the zoning board's okay, the re-zoning application will now go on to Sunbury's council for action. Council is to hear the zoning matter at its Apr. 19 meeting, at which time that board will determine whether to pass it with rules suspended or continue with three readings of it.

Commission member Cliff Cook moved that the re-zoning of 9.2 acres be approved for R-4 (multi-family residence), "subject to Site Plan approval," and that the 19.4 acres be rezoned as a Planned Unit Commercial Development "contingent on developers submitting an acceptable traffic plan" and all documentation "in compliance with Planned Commercial Development regulations."

Both re-zonings were unanimously passed, with zoning board member Dan Shaw noting, "it is with a touch of regret and sadness" that he votes for the re-zoning, as "it will change our way of life."

The zoning board's vote followed an evening of debate at concerned residents of the village and surrounding areas, and board members and the developers Miller, architect Jim Monsul, Westerville, and Rumanelli and Hughes, contractors from Westerville, are developing the acreage at the northwest corner of S.R. 3 and S.R. 37.

Monsul reiterated that the developers wish to have the 19.4 acres re-zoned for a Planned Commercial Development to include a proposed 150,000 sq. ft. shopping area, and the 9.2 acres to multi-family to house 64 townhouse or "studio" apartment units. The shopping area, located to the Roush Hardware center in Westerville, would include a Cardinal Foods' Pie 'n' Sav store as the anchor store.

Monsul told the zoning board and Miller, a committee appointed by Mayor Dan Conant consisting of Shaw and Cook and resident Jack Jennings, and representatives of Traffic-Pro, Inc., a Willoughby traffic engineering consulting firm, had met "as recently as 4 p.m. this afternoon" to discuss traffic concerns involving the development.

He said he feels comfortable, with preliminary engineering studies, that the project can be serviced with public water and sewer, and noted the developers would use Delaware county's water detention standards in determining storm drainage needs for the project. "It will supplement our surface retention with some type of small pond," Monsul noted.

The architect said the developers "feel very comfortable with" the development plans as submitted, with the developers paying for new traffic lights, street improvements, and improvements to the site within the planned unit development, such as trees, walkways, etc.

Monsul introduced Frank Orlando, engineer and president of Traffic-Pro, the traffic consultant firm hired by the village to study the S.C.S.R. 37 intersection last fall. Orlando and Traffic-Pro representative Ed Govitz had met with the planning subcommittee earlier that afternoon.

Coaches Honor Long-Time BW Scorekeeper

Howard Bricker was a surprise honoree at Monday night's Big Walnut winter sports banquet.

Bricker was recognized for his 33 years of scorekeeping with induction into the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame during ceremonies at the high school gym.

Bricker, left, receives congratulations and the honorary membership from Bob Shoe-maker. The former BW coach, now at Heath High School, presented the award on behalf of District Eleven Coaches. "Howard is a great, great person," commented Shoe-maker. "He gave me and the teams I had at Big Walnut good ideas. He is not only a good friend, but a good booster."

Ray Eitzel, president of the OHSCBA, had the following inscription on Howard's plaque: "In recognition and appreciation of loyal and valuable service to high school basketball in the state of Ohio. Our best wishes and heartfelt thanks accompany this expression of gratitude."

Orlando said, according to their initial studies, Traffic-Pro doesn't "feel the development will have a negative impact on the traffic at the intersection." He said his firm used federal Institute of Traffic "trip generation" statistics, and took a preliminary 9-hour manual traffic count to reach that conclusion.

Orlando pointed out Traffic-Pro recommends acceleration and deceleration lanes, as well as left turn lanes to service the development, and new traffic lights on the S.C. as well as S.R. 37, which would operate during peak traffic times, and then flash other times.

Monsul added he feels developers will keep the access just east of the BST&G firehouse, a "right in, right out" access, to eliminate a left-turn lane at that point on S.R. 37. He also pointed out the developers are "prepared to pay for" the lights, and additional lanes needed for access to the development.

Tom Hughes, of Hughes Engineering, spoke about the storm water retention from the project. He noted the development would be engineered to "retain up to a one-in-a-100-year storm," while once-in-a-100-year at the rate of the average of storms in any two years. He noted the holding pond area, which would allow this retention, would be located in the bottom land next to Prairie Run, on the northeast corner of the development. "It would not be a pond all the time, but after heavy rains, only," he pointed out.

Monsul also noted the developers had talked with Showa Corporation about the possibility of tying into the 12 in. water main presently serving their Sunbury Components Industries plant. They hope to have their fire protection line in place this year," at which time, Monsul pointed out, the water line may be available for tapping into to loop with another water line along S.R. 37 "to maximize pressure for our sprinkler system."

Monsul reiterated the developers need the zoning board's approval "so we can go to O.D.O.T. (Ohio Dept. of Transportation) for our curb cut on S.R. 3." He added the state needs approval from the village before granting the curb cut, "about halfway between S.R. 61 and S.R. 37."

Land owner and developer Paul Miller gave some of his and his family's "thoughts and feelings" concerning the history of the development of his farm. "The door was first opened probably 40 years ago," Paul said, "when we found surveyor stakes in the middle of our farm." The S.C. Highway "eventually showed up there."

"Ever since the highway came through, we've had people coming, asking to do this or that on the corners," Miller said. "I've heard ideas for ice cream shops, gas stations, 'more than once', restaurants, carry-outs, public storage buildings, tire alignment shops, and more."

"But during the 60's, the word must have gotten out that 'these are the Miller's', Paul continued, saying requests for the land slacked off some time. Miller continued to explain that down throughout those 40 years, "I think we could have found an acre here and an acre there. First thing you know, all the frontage would have been sold. But we didn't, because we didn't think it would be right for the village."

Despite the Miller's intentions, the village did go on and grow westward, Paul pointed out.

"Now, we as a family, and I personally, it's time for things to change there at that corner," Paul continued. "It comes down to the idealistic (of not condoning development) vs. the realistic (that it's going to happen, anyway)."

"It's awfully hard to justify taking one farmland gets to $1,000 per acre," Miller added. "How long do you go on performing, a non-economic business?"

Paul said architect Monsul "approached us two years ago, so this is not an overnight thing. It involves a lot of thought. They have the know how, integrity, and financial resources to put together something that would benefit the community," Miller continued, "and I feel these people can do it."

Citizens in the audience began asking questions of the developers, and the zoning commission. Larry Edwards, S. Columbus St., asked the board if they'd taken a survey of the community to determine the residents' wishes regarding the development.

Solicitor Ed Eitzel pointed out the village has a Masterplan, put together in 1961, which says the Miller land will be developed as commercial. "It would be difficult to tell a property owner here's the Masterplan and what we want your land to become, but we will do a survey."

Councilman Doug Lober asked what the rule of thumb is for determining the "economic impact" of such a development "in terms of other taxes vs. real estate taxes." Architect Monsul responded the rule is to double the amount of taxes estimated from property taxes, "and you have a good idea of what all other tax income might be."

Charlene Alward, S. Vernon St., asked "what determines this is what's good for the com-

JVS Programs May Open to All Next Year

Big Walnut, JVS, or both. That could be next year's list of choices for juniors and seniors in the county if the Delaware JVS has their way about it, announced Superintendent Carl Martin at Monday night's regular Big Walnut board meeting.

Martin informed board members that the JVS is looking into the possibility of piloting half-day programs to enable students to take advantage of opportunities at both sites. If the changes do occur, students will then be able to spend half a day at the JVS and half a day at their home school.

The change should also boost the JVS enrollment, Martin pointed out.

While the proposal is still in the planning stages, Martin stresses he is in favor of the idea. "We think it will open up the curriculum at the JVS for a lot more students."

Right now, he says, students are locked into an either-or situation. Students who choose to stay at the home school are locked out of opportunities at the JVS, and vice versa, he explained. "There are a lot of kids here at the school that should be taking advantage of opportunities at the JVS that aren't," he says.

According to Martin all students should be able to benefit from both facilities. "The JVS is an extension of the home school," he points out. "That's the way it was designed and originally what it was intended to be."

Martin says it is undecided which programs will be piloted yet if the change occurs. However, he suggests that it may even be possible to pilot specialized academic courses at the JVS in which students from the entire county could participate. For example, he says, advanced language labs, engineering courses, or other specialized areas, in which only a few from each school participate, could be held at the JVS. "There's a whole realm of things that could open up," Martin says.

The plan does have drawbacks, Martin points out, since it would involve a lot of restructuring of class and bus schedules.

Board president Jim Heine and board member Bruce Denton asked if the teachers and students have had a chance to give their input. Since plans are in the early stages, Martin says the counselors and principals have scheduled to meet so far.

Board member Rosie Mohler favors the idea. "It's a sound, great," she says. "We can have the best of both worlds if we can work it out."

Board members also agreed

Monday to let the Sunbury-Galena Rotary Club use the Big Walnut Elementary gym and outdoor facilities this summer for the club's proposed Summer Fun Club.

As Martin explained to board members, the program will be designed for area youth in grades 1-6. It will probably consist of two eight week sessions of organized summer activities, staffed by two paid leaders, he explains. "It's basically an attempt to start some type of recreation program for elementary age kids," he said.

Martin notes that Jim Coffield of the Worthington Parks and Recreation Department has been working with Sunbury county and the Rotary Club to coordinate and facilitate the program.

Martin says he discussed the idea with Big Walnut Elementary principal, Richard Rosato, and they do not foresee any drawbacks since all parties involved will be placed under liability.

However, board president James Heine requested that a letter of understanding be drawn up between the three parties involved to avoid any potential legal problems.

Five members of Big Walnut FFA, along with their advisor,

Hardy Hale, also visited the board to give a presentation of FFA and their accomplishments. Joy Hale, Jim Pierson, Mindy Fountain, Jody Lane and Missy Carpenter presented a slide show to the board highlighting FFA activities. They also reported on their individual duties and achievements.

Highlighted activities included competitions and shows at local and state fairs, their annual food sales, the National Convention in Kansas City, FFA camp, their annual Can-a-Castle food drive, and their leadership Conference in Washington, D.C.

Hale pointed out to the board that they try to stress to students that FFA is not just for those interested in farming. "We try to stress to them that there are many opportunities," he explains. "We try to increase their knowledge as well as develop them as individuals."

Member Missy Carpenter, who will be placed under liability speaking contest, and who will now advance to state level competition, ended the presentation with her recital of the FFA creed.

In other action, the board accepted the following donations: $150 to the Show Choir, $300 to BWL, $175 to BW6, $300 to Souaders, and $300 to BWIE, all from CCL, $150 to the Bill Tritt Memorial Fund from William and Mary Tritt, $150 to the "Just Say No" Clubs from Big Walnut Lionses Club.

The 1989-90 school calendar was approved.

The following resignations were accepted: Charles Chandler and Don Kolodny, both of whom are retiring; Cynthia Whitney, Hardy Hale, Karen Ballard, Ann Davis, all substitute teachers; Sheres Hunsucker, Teri Colonides, and Julie Chance, tutors.

Three year administrative contracts were renewed for

Charles Workman, Steve Butler, and Jim York.

Members approved a maternity leave of absence for Tamara Henry for the remainder of the school year.

Brian Lynn Van de Walle and Jenna Van de Walle were released to Plain Local Schools for transportation.

Spring sport supplemental contracts were granted to Carl Seeger, reserve softball coach; Red Edwards and Chip Kline-dinst, boys assistant track coaches; Kevin Strepp, girls assistant track coach, and Joe Enever, 7-8 assistant track coach.

Village of Galena will hold an Easter egg hunt next Saturday, March 25 at 1:00 p.m. at Ruffner Park.

Students in grades seven, eight, and nine participate in a wide array of special activities during Holy Week. Students used equipment such as the academy's astronaut training simulators, the Microgravity Training Chair, and the Five Degrees of Freedom Trainer. In addition, they used the nation's only full-scale space shuttle exhibit to get a better understanding of how the shuttle works.

Twenty member teams participated in simulated space missions, using mission control and space shuttle mockups to train. Teams are divided, with half in mission control and half on the orbiter crew. Each person assumes a particular role such as mission director, flight director, or payload commander or pilot.

While at the Academy, Lisa stayed in the new Space Habitat, a futuristic dormitory built to simulate aspects of the Space Station.

Space Academy also offers programs for grades 4-6 and for high school students.

community?" To which, Monsal responded that growth is occurring elsewhere in the Sunbury area, and with it, other uses, adding the developers would have economic advantages for the village.

Alward asked "what about the water situation?" commenting on recent years of shortages. Monsal and the zoning members referred her to "what the Board of Public Affairs proposed last week" concerning plans for a new reservoir and treatment plant expansion.

Charlene also said she felt the village "is taking quite a bit of risk" concerning the future development of the back acre, behind the shopping area and apartments. Monsal and the developers had emphasized intentions for housing, and been shelved at this point, "and we don't know how that will develop."

Boger responded to Alward's query that "we can't do anything with it now; it hasn't been applied for; it's not before this commission. You can't tell a property owner he can't use his land in the future, until he comes with it."

Alward then commented, "I don't think you can look at this as a problem. I've heard all this before, with other developments."

Larry Edwards then asked the zoning board if they'd "looked at other towns or villages which have had acceptable growth so far?" Monsal responded that the question before the zoning board is a legal question; "we're here to consider a planned commercial development, not overall planning," he explained. "You can't say at this point, we don't want growth; it's not a question to be asked as far as this specific development."

Jack Jennings then mentioned his letter to the zoning board which basically states the zoning commission can not grant the rezoning without following its own zoning code regulations specifically. Mayor Conant read Jennings' letter to the gathering, in which he stressed the developers' "application is not complete."

Jack also pointed out the village's Masterplan calls for all the Miller corner to be used commercially, "and you're not following that." He added, concerning the back acreage left for future development, "the developer has the obligation to make a commitment now for the future use of that back land."

Jennings also pointed out he felt the road's servicing the development should be "designed under the zoning code situation." "If the developer is not going to specify he wants to develop it for residential," Jack explained, the streets should be designed for heavy traffic conditions, such as might come from industrial development.

Bob Nichols, Hill St., pointed out he thought developers should include a "small playground with the apartment area." He added he felt this development would help "to develop other than strip zoning which is currently going on along S.R. 37," and would help the traffic congestion problem of the 30-S.R. 37 intersection.

Regarding a statement in Jennings' letter concerning the development road's junction with S.R. 3, Monsal said the developers hope to purchase "less than a half acre" from Dick DeVore to locate the intersection where they wish it. "If we can't, we can move the intersection about 200 ft. south," he said.

Larry Edwards then asked if the zoning board had looked at other shopping centers to use as models for the zoning board, to this one, to which zoning board member Dan Shaw pointed out "we'll pass on specifications when he comes back" with his subdivision plan.

Cliff Cook responded the development standards are spelled out in zoning ordinance, "and with our additional conditions, we'll cover about everything."

Edwards then asked if the

transfer of the deed from Mr. Teut to Big Walnut Conservation Club, so be it.

I'd like to know the facts that you drew on, as few remain. The minutes from the meeting at the time of purchase and transfer were stolen from the clubhouse, or so we were told. Therefore, the requests and agreements made by Dad at the time, and his gesture toward a young and enthusiastic organization, are being lost with time and minimized by those not so modest.

In stating the facts as we know them and have documented, a check of $2750.00 ($65.00 per acre), payment in full, to Mr. Teut I totally sympathize with. Payment in full for land in Trenton Twp., Delaware Co., Ohio, deeded to Big Walnut Conservation Club for Southworth Memorial Park. This endorsement and real estate transfer was prepared by Reedy Bunker, president of what was then known as Farmers Bank of Sunbury.

The I.R.S. has "recorded as follows: "42 acres purchased and added to Big Walnut Conservation Club for use of athletics for Sunbury youth, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Junior Legion Baseball, etc." This return was prepared by Paul Knope CPA and Associates in 1988.

Also on that return is baseball paraphernalia of $475.00 for the Sunbury Braves, an active semi-pro baseball team, made up of some very good, local talent and a Sunday drawing card.

During that same era, Junior Legion Baseball was played there, as was Little League of all ages and levels.

Aside from baseball, Dad was a sportsman and an avid hunter of rabbit, bird, squirrel and coon, most of it taking place right here on his farm. He was also a fisherman when baseball permitted. His desire was to see the Conservation Club be a success. However, as I recall, do not give Dad the acclaim of being present in 1948 or anytime (unless it was honorary), as his career took him away eight months out of the year, and what kind of president would that be?

Now, the facts as I know them have been aired. The spot that made this possible has been forgotten.

Mr. Faber, Dad never sought publicity or notoriety, and this should not be the issue. Had you known him, he was a very humble man and does not need to be recognized, as your letter states, "a noteworthy resident."

I also notice the kids are still advertising for five acres for a ball field.

BOND ISSUE SUPPORTER CLAUSES MEANING OF PREVIOUS LETTER

Dear Editor:
I am writing to clarify some obvious misconceptions in the meaning of my letter of a few weeks ago to the no voters in the Big Walnut Bond issue.

I totally sympathize with those people on fixed incomes who cannot afford a raise in their taxes. I wish the state of Ohio would recognize this and do something about it. But there are no voters in the Big Walnut community who in fact can afford a raise in their taxes but selfishly refuse to support the schools. Even though information was made available for the past bond issue and all of the other issues in the past, there are people who will vote no, no matter what is put before them and they don't even try to research the situation because their minds are made up beforehand. To this, I add that if a community person really cared and was debating on whether or not our schools are in fact in such bad shape that they deserved our yes vote, then that person would take the time to go and see the schools for themselves. They would read the Sunbury News, read information on the issues sent to everyone in the district, attend open houses set up for people to ask questions who aren't sure, or call the school for information they have questions about, which might be a breakdown in figures showing how much money would go to the building, athletic fields, landscaping, etc. If you really care about something, you look into the matter.

2) When I said "in Big Walnut there should be a break-down in figures showing how much money would go to the building, athletic fields, landscaping, etc. If you really care about something, you look into the matter."

What I meant by this statement is that some of the bad things are in such a bad state and those that are in fair condition are so overcrowded, that I don't see how anyone could turn down a bond issue if in fact they really cared and really knew how bad the situation was. I would like to add that in Ohio we now have a choice on voting for levies, but if people continue to defeat much needed school issues, and this is evidenced by all of the articles seen recently in the newspaper, then the state may step in, as a majority of states do in our country, and tax us all for education without our having a voice in it at all.

3) In regards to "Kids in the school think that people just don't care." I never once referred to Sunbury. Reference was made to the Big Walnut community which includes some Westerville, Galena and Johnstown people. Children and adults alike, from our district and from other districts, have said to me, "It'll never pass. Nothing ever passes at Big Walnut. The people just don't care." I have tried to assure them that there are many people who do care, since they all don't vote no on school issues. Obviously though, when 13 out of the community have failed, I can understand where they got this impression.

4) When I talked about what types of people we would want buying homes in our community and what types of kids we would want for our next door neighbors, I too believe that all kids are equal and should have an equal opportunity for a good education. That is just the reason why I support the education issues at Big Walnut. If someone from outside the area with school age children were thinking about buying a house in the Big Walnut district and enrolling their kids in the public schools there, and if they cared about their kid's education, they would check out the schools ahead of time to find out their condition and check into support by the community on spending money on education. If cause local support is so important to schools in Ohio, I don't think they'd be pleased with Big Walnut's record of defeated issues versus passed issues. On the other hand, some people don't care about what the schools are like or whether or not they are supported because education is not one of their main priorities. Cheaper taxes may be tops on their list.

5) Reference has been made in several letters comparing Big Walnut with Arlington, Dublin and Westerville. In other words, because of Dublin's oversized fancy football stadium and Westerville's poor money management, our kids at Big Walnut should suffer? How sad Big Walnut is so unique in its size and simplicity and still is why I like it for my kids so much and that is why many other parents of kids at Big Walnut like it. I don't think any of us want it to turn into anything like another Westerville or Dublin. All we want is for Big Walnut to be able to function properly and to keep Big Walnut unique.

6) My last concern is all of the references in letters made to sports at Big Walnut. I totally agree that academics are far more important than sports and this country does over-emphasize athletics in its schools, but at Big Walnut, much of the money used for sports comes from donations from the Athletic Boosters which are supported by the parents of kids playing the sports. Also, many kids just are not that academically inclined, but love sports. Well, in order to play sports at Big Walnut, you must maintain certain grades to play a sport, and so sports are a good motivator for the athletes to keep their grades up. Also, girls' teams have come into existence in the past few years, which is why our fields and gyms are so crowded, and I think that is wonderful that girls get the same opportunity as boys now in sports. I think sports do have a positive effect on our kids with the motivation factor, and also, it keeps them physically fit and healthy, it keeps them off the streets so they are not just hanging around and getting into trouble. Of course, being in band and music at the school would have the same effect. So with sports you need fields and with music you need some sort of auditorium.

In closing, I would like to say I think it is great that people are now starting to ask questions and speak out about the bond issue. I only wish they'd have taken the time to do so before its failure in November and February. I hope that everyone who voted no will take the time to research the issue and give the schools any input and suggestions they might have because I love Big Walnut and something needs to be done soon.

COMMUNITY DESERVES ANSWERS ON LIBRARY ISSUE, SAYS WRITER

Dear Editor:
I at last missed the letter about our Community Library, written by Clyde and Mary Kay Cochran. I think maybe quite a few people are missing a very important bit of information that should be known.

I also attended that meeting. The president of the Community Library Board was present, and explained that she had appeared before the Tax Court Appeals Board. She was hoping for a decision before the end of 1988. At the meeting in February, she had no answer. I think we deserve some answers to some very important questions.

1-Just how busy is the Tax Court Appeals Board?

2-Are decisions made according to rotation of cases, or as the board pleases?

3-Is politics a major factor as to whether how the decisions are made?

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

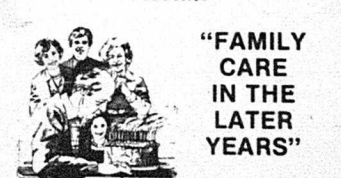

By Richard DeVore

FIRST OF A SERIES

The age in which we are living is often referred to as atomic, space, scientific, technological - and even revolutionary. You seldom hear it referred to as the age of crisis, but that is exactly what it is. And apart from the crises we face as a nation, personal crises are met daily in our individual lives. Misfortune, catastrophe, trouble, distress, death, employment, illness and major surgery, education, marital situations are but a few. You can easily add to the list which prompts the question, "What shall I do?"

In a sense, none of us can be educated in advance to deal constructively with a crisis. Yet we can to some extent anticipate certain crises in life that we are likely to face. Blaming others or ourselves for painful crises usually is not helpful. Distressful circumstances require an active search for a realistic solution. How can this be done? The question will be answered next week. Watch for it. Read it. We think you will find it interesting. DEVORE FUNERAL HOMES, Golden Rule Chapel, SR 3 at 61, Sunbury, Ohio. Phone 965-2936. EDITOR'S NOTE: This weekly column is brought to you by 'the gals' of The News staff. Readers are invited to submit recipes or other items they 'Care to Share.'

by Kay Harris

Those who rise early on Easter Sunday can watch the sun dance. This is an old myth explaining the origin of sunrise services. In fact, the first sunrise service in the United States was thought to be held in Bethlehem, Pa. in 1741. It has continued to this day as a way to begin Easter celebrations.

But whether you're an early riser or not, why not plan an Easter brunch as part of your celebration? Here is a recipe for Trinity Easter Bread, a treat sure to mark the morning as a special occasion!

But remember, according to Greek tradition, the bread represents the Trinity, so each person should be served a slice from each of the breads!

Trinity Easter Bread
4-1/2 c. all-purpose flour
2 pkg. dry yeast or Quick-Rise Yeast
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 c. water
1/2 c. milk
1/2 c. butter or margarine
2 eggs
2 Tbsp. grated lemon rind
1 jar (10 oz.) marshmallow cherries, well drained and halved (about 1 cup)

Glaze (optional):
1 c. sifted powdered sugar
1 tsp. softened butter or margarine
1-2 Tbsp. hot water
In large mixer bowl, combine 1 1/2 cups flour, yeast, sugar and loosely with foil last 5 to 10 minutes of baking. Remove from cookie sheet; cool. Drizzle with powdered sugar. Glaze and garnish with chopped nuts and cherries, if desired.

salt; mix well. In saucepan, heat water, milk and butter until very warm (120-130 degrees; butter does not need to melt). Add to flour mixture. Add eggs. Blend at low speed until moistened; beat 3 minutes at medium speed. By hand, gradually stir in lemon rind, cherries and enough remaining flour to make a firm dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and elastic, 5 to 8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place until light and doubled, about 1 hour (30 minutes for Quick-Rise).

Punch down dough. Divide into 3 parts. Shape each third into a smooth ball. On greased large cookie sheet, place 3 balls together in shape of a cloverleaf. Cover; let rise until double, about 45 minutes (25 minutes for Quick-Rise). Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. If too dark, cover

Catching Up With Social Events of Harlem Community

by Betty Johnson

It is time to buy your Easter candy for all those baskets you need to fill. The Harlem Grange again has molded chocolate figurines and fresh baked candies for sale.

Ann D'Imperio broke her leg a few weeks ago and was back in the hospital this past week to have a pin placed to enhance the healing process. This week the doctors will place the leg in a cast.

The organization meeting of the Harlem Civic Association was attended by at least 100 interested Harlem townships. Many thoughtful concerns were put forth to the group. These included proposed zoning variances to allow the construction of a strip shopping center at Harlem and Smothers roads, and a concrete substation adjacent to the ball field on St. Rt. 605.

Other concerns were the sheriff's sale of the old Harlem School (should the trustees buy it back or what?); the question of inadequate police protection; the Big Walnut School levy; the plight of the Community Library; and the junk car yard's alleged burning and toxic waste dumping. We can help ourselves in each of these issues by becoming informed about the dealings of the trustees who meet the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at the firehouse at 7:00 p.m., and the zoning board and zoning appeals board on the first Wednesday and third Tuesday also at 7:00 p.m., and by joining the Harlem Civic Association which will send news letters and meet to discuss our mutual problems each month.

The Community Library needs us all to get behind a letter-writing campaign to pressure the powers that be into letting the library survive as it has in the past. Jan Pierson is our crusader in this battle.

In the "What goes around, comes around" category, back in the earlier part of this century, Harlem township had "township meetings" at least four times a year. The area was divided geographically and each section took a turn at entertaining and/or enlightening the rest with home talent, etc. Some of the parents of those at this Harlem Civic Association were instrumental in old "township meetings." Those were simpler times, when people were concerned with feeding and clothing their family, and they hadn't heard of toxic waste dumping.

The township trustees are thoughtful and concerned about our dear home town and seem to be doing their best. Go to some of the open meetings and get involved in the planning. Another thing I learned was our right to petition for a referendum vote within 30 days of a decision (i.e., zoning) that you don't feel is in the best interest of the community.

The Harlem Garden Club will meet March 21 at Eloise Collier's home. Those members on the program are Mary Smithberger, Nancy Singer, Joyce Cleveland and Judy Riedmiller.

Have a cheerful week. The crocus and some other lesser bulbs have started to bloom, which helps the attitude problem a lot.

20 1/2 Vernon Street
Sunbury, Ohio 43084
965-4900"PERIODONTAL DISEASE"There are actually several types of periodontal disease.
All are started by a bacterial infection that destroys the gums, bone and ligaments supporting the teeth. Periodontal disease progresses silently, often without overt symptoms that would alert you to its presence. It may develop slowly or progress quite rapidly.Despite unparalleled advances in dentistry and breakthroughs in research, periodontal disease remains a serious health problem.
Nine out of ten people are affected by it in the course of their lives. Responsible for considerable tooth loss in adults, periodontal disease currently affects over half of the population over the age of 18. After age 35, about three out of four adults develop some form of gum disease.Jobs in Australia $11,000 to

Rossford-Lexington Game Has Local Ties

There was a definite local connection when Rossford played Lexington in the Division II Regional boys basketball finals Friday.

Community resident Jim Burkhardt is the brother-in-law of Rossford head coach Mike Heck James, a nephew, is also a member of the team.

After making a 2½-hour bus ride from their Wood county home, the squad stopped at the Burkhardt's prior to the game.

"They wanted to relax and unwind after making the long trip," told Dorie Burkhardt, Jim's wife.

Team members watched movies, shot baskets outside and played cards, added Dorie. A bouquet of 18 maroon and gray balloons greeted the Bulldogs on their arrival.

The entire 28-person delegation of coaches, players, cheerleaders, advisor, manager and trainer then headed into Sunbury for the Big Walnut Girls Softball Association spaghetti dinner.

Following their meal, the team boarded their chartered bus for the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus. Alas, it was not a happy ending as Rossford fell to Lexington 85-72.

SOUP & SALAD

Soup and Salad Supper will be served Friday, March 17, at the Galena United Methodist Church, 121 Harrison Street, Galena, from 5:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. by the Galena United Methodist Men. Choice of soups will be vegetable, chili, potato or broccoli. The cost of the soup and build-your-own salad supper is $5.00 adult, $2.00 child (10 and under). Homemade desserts will be available. Profits from the supper will help send kids to church camps. 11M16p developers would pay the full costs of "added police, fire, etc." services," to which Boger responded, "when the village annexed the land, the village in effect stated it will provide those services, as available."

Bob Kletrovetz, S.S. Old SC, asked "what's the big worry about the vacant land?" to the rear of the proposed project. He pointed out the developers would have to come through the same re-zoning process when they are ready to develop it.

Tom Twigg, a Porter township resident who owns land in Sunbury, said he feels the development offers "an excellent opportunity for Sunbury to grow." He stated, "a plan like this will bring Sunbury up to par, where Sunbury will survive" in the future.

Twigg said he feels "no new growth" is a "primitive way of thinking," and added the planned shopping center should offer Sunbury a lot of new jobs. Monsal added he's estimated 350 new full and part-time jobs from the development, saying "that's one of the fringe areas of growth, lots of opportunities for youth" in new jobs.

Kletrovetz then pointed out, "Sunbury has been anti-growth. We've reached a point, that's impossible I would like to see the zoning board vote this in, I like it a whole lot better than other areas" in the village development.

Edwards then pointed to a Forbes magazine article which illustrates a national trend toward "slow growth" movements. He said these movements "are a reaction by citizens who feel they've lost control of the local governments to developers."

Ray Brown, Rainbow Ave., said he'd been in the community about 30 years, and pointed out "the downtown area has degraded itself in the last 30 years. In the 30 years, I've seen no progress in this community."

Dan Shaw responded to Edwards' concern saying he and others had spent many hours in 1981 working on the zoning code, and "so that developers can't come in and ruin it."

PUBLIC NOTICE

Village crews will begin cemetery clean-up March 20th thru March 24th. here and do what they want to. After this goes to council, it then comes back to us. I'd call it 'planned' growth. We have regulations here for 'slow growth'." Shaw added.

Big Walnut Schools superintendent Carl Martin commented "Sunbury is going to be sitting here surrounded by all the development," pointing to plans in southern areas of the school district. "It's difficult for people to spend our dollars in Sunbury. This development would serve the residents and the businesses that are coming."

Martin added, "I don't foresee the negative impact of it. I see the positive side, both in terms of services as well as for the tax basis for the schools."

Harlem resident Valerie Pedersen pointed out that the zoning process "is a legal process. The zoning board has set up criteria, and if they are met, they can't deny the re-zoning request."

Pedersen also pointed out she'd be in favor of an alternative to shopping at the IGA, as well as possibly having a family-style restaurant.

Jennings then asked "does the village want to accept streets which will basically just serve this private entity?"

Boger then responded, "it's up to this commission to determine if the Development Plan requirements have been met. We can't look to other areas. With the way our code is written, we're stuck with looking at what we have now," being applied for.

Jennings then stated the

LEGAL NOTICE

Porter Township Board of Zoning Appeals. Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held at the Porter Township Firehouse on April 3, 1989, at 7:00 p.m. on the following described property: Building of a house on Patrick Road, a variance was filed by Richard F. Voeger, 2756 N.S.R. 605, Sunbury, Oh., as the proposed property under the Zoning Resolution, Section 6.06(b) will not allow the house to be set back the required 105 feet due to the flood plain.

Interested persons are requested to appear and voice their opinions with respect thereto. Porter Township Board of Zoning Appeals. Caroline M. Estrada, Secretary to the Board. 11M16a impact of the development should be addressed in the Development Plan, from an engineering standpoint, as far as load requirements, traffic and pavement requirements.

Boger said the roads within the development are being designed as "major arterials," explaining they would have to meet higher development standards than if they were only used for residential use.

Councilman Ted Forman, saying he has no opposition to the development, "whatsoever," added to the zoning board, "you've got to do it according to your Development Plan," codes set down in the zoning. "Your job is to see this doesn't put the burden on the taxpayer," Ted added.

Mark Lieurance, Arbor Dr., asked the zoning board to "vote for this project. I feel we've done an admirable job of governing ourselves. This is well laid out, very well planned."

Lieurance also indicated he represented Sunbury United Methodist Church in making his statement for the development.

Forman asked, "what about his Spring clean-up at Galena and Berkshire Cemeteries will begin April 10, 1989. Anyone wishing to claim flower arrangements, grave blankets, wreaths, etc. are urged to do so before this date. (Jennings') concerns?" referring to Jack's letter.

Boger replied, they met the storm water "retention drainage" and are "to meet traffic concerns. Those are to be required to be included in the Development Plan."

"You just got it today," Jennings pointed out. "You should have the opportunity to study them."

"My advice to the Mayor is that we had met all the criteria, that we should address concerns and make that part of the Plan," Boger explained. "I feel it has to be included," Jennings added.

Boger then said, "we don't have a village engineer or professional planning staff to use; nor a review process prior to filing an application. Through the limitations of the zoning code, we have 15 days to come up with a decision" after the public hearing.

Shaw interjected, "in all fairness to Mr. Monsal, he said we should table it for another month, but the code won't let us do it."

Forman then questioned whether meetings between developers and zoning board members had been in violation of the Sunshine Law, then reiterated that he felt the board "is not handling this as it states in your own code."

Boger responded, "the vote will tell. If you (to the zoning board) approve it, you're saying it does comply with the planned unit development requirements of the code. If not, vote 'no,'" he explained.

After a five-minute recess, the vote was taken, with the unanimous outcome. Zoning board member Chuck Reese was not present to vote with fellow members Cook, Shaw, Conant and Len Weatherly.

In one other matter, actually taken up at the beginning of the meeting, the zoning commission members voted in favor of a request by property owners along the extension of Morning St. off Granville, to vacate a 15 ft. wide by 100 ft. section of the right-of-way.

Property owner Marvin Creek, 117 E. Granville, the point between Granville and Morning, and abutting owners, Larue and Marge Slith, 101 E. Granville, had requested the vacating, as portions of the buildings encroach upon the right-of-way.

The zoning board unanimously agreed to recommend the vacating to council, which was then to hear the matter at its regular meeting this week.

Dr. Brian A. DittenberPOSTURE, LIGHTING AND REST

Eye strain is a common complaint in today's paperwork environment. Our eyes were never meant to do so much close work. These simple procedures, however, may help ease early signs of eye strain —

Posture plays an important role in preventing eye strain. Whenever possible, read in an upright, sitting position. Hold reading material at a slight angle and about 16 inches away from your eyes.

Proper lighting is also a must. Reading or other close tasks should be done in a generally well lit room with extra light falling on the reading material.

When paperwork is intensive, remember to rest for a minute or two after every 20 minutes of concentrated work. Look out of a window or across the room. This change of focus often relieves the stress that causes blurred distance vision after periods of close visual performance. Take that moment when you turn a page to look away from printed materials.

Your eyes are worth pampering, with regular examination and proper care.

Brought to you as a community service by Dr. Brian A. Dittenber, Optometrist, 30 South Vernon Street, Sunbury, Ohio, 965-4671.
