Village designates new zoning district excluding apartments

By Kriss K. Jenny-Case

The people spoke, and Sunbury village officials listened. The result: a new zoning district in the village that excludes multi-family housing from a planned residential district. The plan was proposed at the Sept. 22 meeting of the Sunbury Planning and Zoning Commission.

The new zoning designation, for planned single family districts (PSFD), does not allow multi-family, cluster, patio, common wall, or any other variation of multi-family housing. However, non-residential uses of a religious, cultural, educational, or recreational nature intended to serve the residents of the district, are permitted.

"We've spent a lot of time, and with the public input, we've come up with this plan," said James Dietz, village zoning solicitor. "I don't think it has detracted any more interested (in development) in the village."

The new designation was called for when citizens voiced their concerns over plans for multi-family housing tracts in the proposed subdivision on 275 acres of land currently owned by the Nestle Co. southwest of town. Those citizens said multi-family housing sites at Sunbury Estates and along McGill Street in the village have become pockets of crime, and said they do not wish to add to that problem with more multi-family housing. The zoning code allows multi-family housing under its planned residential district; the new designation would provide guidelines for a district disallowing the home groupings.

A public hearing will be held on the new zoning designation on Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. in the Sunbury Municipal Building, 9 E. Granville St.

A public hearing also was set for Oct. 27 at 6:30 p.m. for a discussion on guidelines for the construction of cellular telecommunications towers within the village. The village planning and zoning commission reviewed the proposed guidelines, based on similar pieces written by the Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission and Cuyahoga County. Items to be addressed in the guidelines include abandonment of the towers, setbacks from existing structures, and construction limitations to commercial or industrial areas.

In other business, Mayor Len Weatherby introduced Sue Butterfield of Sunbury as the new zoning clerk assistant, replacing Teresa Daniels. Butterfield will continue with her duties as water and sewer billing clerk with the village, while she serves as zoning clerk assistant. Butterfield has worked for the village since 1985. Butterfield said there will be an increase in pay, but the position may only be temporary. "There will be a trial period," she said. "I have to learn the ropes."

The commission also approved a lot split for developers Romanelli and Hughes for 4,646 acres to be split from about 33 acres of land at the end of Burrell Drive near the Galena Street intersection. Village engineer Russ Lahut was instructed to keep an eye on the access to the lot. "People will be cutting over from Ohio 3 to Granville street (in town) once the bridge is built," said Lahut. "I think when Dan Shaw [the engineer] goes, he should take on any development plan presented on the new lot that access should be provided from the extension of Burrell Drive, once it is constructed, instead."

In his engineer's report, Lahut noted the bridge into Sunbury from Ohio 37 is now open. He said he also has been notified that graffiti already has been spray painted on the bridge, which officially opened Sept. 18. In addition, the intersection at U.S. 36 (Ohio 37 and Ohio 3) has been completed, and the bridge south of Galena on Ohio 3 soon will be finished.

"You can come back to Sunbury again," quipped Weatherby.

Peacocks strut their stuff on area farm

By Kriss K. Jenny-Case

Visualize, if you will, a peacock.

Two images may come to mind: one of a showy bird with a beautiful array of greens, indigos, purples, and browns mixed into its feathers; and the other of the NBC logo (three-tone chimes included).

But did you know there are six different species of peacocks? Did you know they come from places as far away as Sri Lanka, India, Burma, Malaysia, and even Australia? Did you know they're large pheasants, that can weigh up to 11 pounds? And if you really want to get technical, peacocks are the males and peahens are the females, with peafowl being the correct usage of the plural.

I had to look all of this up, but that was AFTER I visited Nick Fogress, who raises six varieties of, ahem, peafowl on his eight-acre farm near Marengo. He was a peacock expert when I visited Fogress a few weekends ago.

What started out three years ago as an interesting hobby has now all but taken over Fogress' farm. "I started with four little ones, but because you can't tell the males from females at that age, I ended up with four males," said Fogress with a chuckle. "So I traded two males for two females." And, nature has taken its course.

"Nobody made me a peacock expert," said Fogress, who said he learned about raising the pheasants through trial-and-error, and talking with other folks who raise them.

He keeps pairs of each breed in separate pens, "to keep the blood lines pure." Because peahens often aren't sure what to do with their first clutch of eggs, those eggs often are taken from them, he said.

This year, two of Fogress' peahens laid eggs, with one even incubating them. The other peahen's eggs were taken to a hen at a chick-rearing facility to hatch them.

Next year, we'll let them lay and hatch the eggs," said Fogress.

Fogress said chicks are kept in wire cages off the ground. "They can get diseases from picking at their own droppings," he said. Adults often like to roost in high places. "They fly like regular birds," he said. "They'll fly up on top of the house or the barn."

While the birds originated in warm climates, Fogress said he has had no problems raising them in Ohio. "They're really tough birds," he said, citing the sub-zero temperatures the birds endured a few winters back. "They didn't even want to go inside the barn," said Fogress. "They've adapted really well to the cold."

The most common peacock — the one most people think of — are the Indian blues, said Fogress. Native to India and Sri Lanka, the Indian blues are marked by their metallic greenish-blue neck, purple-

A black-shouldered peacock and its peahen mate enjoy the noonday sun. At this time of year, the peacock has molted its beautiful, five-foot-long train, blue chest and bellies, and a long train of feathers marked with spots resembling eyes.

Of course, Fogress has them on his farm.

A similar breed, the black-shouldered peacock looks like the Indian blues, except it has black shoulders on its wings. The green spauldings, likewise, are similar to the blues, except they have more green in their plumage.

Yep, he's got them too, along with cameos, whites, and pieds.

These last three resemble peacocks in body build only. Cameos are an unusually gorgeous combination of cream and tan-colored plumage.

Storm sewer hook ups OK'd for merchants

By Kriss Jenny-Case

Sunbury Council voted unanimously to allow the Vernon Street merchants to attach their downspouts to a village-owned storm sewer, thereby alleviating flooding problems at the businesses located on the east side of the village square.

Glenn Evans, owner of Evans Insurance Agency on Vernon Street, asked council to pay for the cost of a sewer line to be run from a catch basin on the corner of the Sunbury News office and the Village Tavern, back to the alley behind the South Vernon Street merchants.

Evans estimated the cost to the village for the sewer extension at about $3,850. Said estimates are $11,000 for the total cost of the project, in which each business would tie in downspouts to a sewer line in the alley, to then be connected to the village's extension.

Council voted to allow up to $4,000 to be spent on the project, $1,000 of which would be paid by each of the individual businesses along that side of the square. Evans said earlier this week, each participating business owner would have to kick in about $710 toward the project. Any money left over, he said, would go toward "dressing up" the alley a bit to spruce it up for visitors.

Village solicitor Craig Paynter said Evans to have two contracts drawn up: one would spell out the specifics for the village's extension, and another would deal over an easement in the alley for the village to allow crews to work on the storm sewer if need be in the future.

Muddy water was another topic of discussion when Carolyn Simpson, of 58 Middleview Dr., asked that something be done about the muddy water coming out of taps in homes along her street.

Simpson said she was told earlier this summer the village had been flushing lines and that was causing the muddy appearance of the water. But

It's not too early to plan for science fair

By Susan Wright

With the first month of school completed, can this year's science fair be too far off?

If you want to get a jump on the competition, be thorough in your investigation and allow for enough time to start over if things don't go well the first time, it's not too early to start.

Big Walnut District Science Fair is scheduled for Feb. 12, and some of the elementary schools will hold sessions even earlier.

The local science fair is the first step in a series of competitions that might reward students with monetary prizes and college scholarships. At-home projects also are a great way to keep students excited about science, by studying something he or she chooses and likes.

Big Walnut senior Jennifer Tieche has participated in science competitions since she was in fifth grade. This year's project is a continuation of last year's study, which drew international attention from protologists.

She said that the final identity might be in disagreement as to whether her discovery is a new species — as Jennifer thinks it is — or if it is a protozoa previously identified as to be only found in polluted water. (Duncan Run is exceptionally clean, she said.) There is a possibility, she said, that the final identity might result in the reclassification of the ciliate family tree.

She said she might be presenting her research findings next year at the International Society of Protozoologists convention in Flagstaff, Ariz.

There's probably not too many high-school projects that will end up going that far, but you just never know.

Jennifer's project, "Differentiating between Unidentified Contract-tile Colonial Sessile Ciliates, Year II," seeks to identify a protozoa that she found in Duncan Run near her home in Harlem Township. In her quest to identify the critter, she has been in contact with several scientists around the world who are experts in the field.

BST&G 2-mill replacement levy to help keep up with inflation

BST&G Fire District is asking voters for a five-year 2-mill replacement levy for fire protection services in the Nov. 4 election.

The levy will generate about $289,453 annually, according to Sheri Baker of the Delaware County auditor's office.

Fire Chief Bill Fling said the district seeks a levy replacement, in which the levy's original millage rate is requested. A renewal levy, on the other hand, would replace the collected amount at a lower millage due to increased property tax valuations in the area. Seeking a replacement levy increases the amount collected, and allows the district to keep up with the costs of inflation, Fling said.

Since it was approved five years ago, the current operating levy has been reduced to a collection rate of 1.3 mills for residential properties. Baker said, and generated about $219,000 during the 1997 tax collection year.

About $80,000 of the revenue is used for department operations, Fling said. The remainder goes toward equipment replacement.

Although the Sunbury and Galena areas are growing in population, Fling said he does not anticipate the fire department becoming full time for at least five years.

"We'll look at it again in another five years. It's not likely to (happen) before then. I don't think we'll grow that fast," he said.

The BST&G Fire District serves Trenton and Berkshire townships and Sunbury and Galena. The department headquarters, located near the U.S. 360/Ohio 37 and Ohio 3 intersection, is 12 years old. The department handles just under 500 runs annually — or an average of 1.5 runs per day.

Former BST&G firefighter Jim Longshore said he remembers quieter days.

"I remember when we broke 200 (annual runs). We thought we were busy," Longshore said.

after three months, she called the village again, and crews came out to dig up lines in her yard to check out the problem.

"Everyone has really been pleasant to me to try to find this out," said Simpson. "Several others on her street haven't heard so much as a peep toward the village. One homeowner, she said, has called the Ohio EPA to report the brackish water, while others have resorted to purchasing bottled water.

Simpson said she let her taps run until clear water appears, and complained that she still has to pay for the water she cannot use. "I shouldn't have to pay for the water that's going straight down the drain," she said. "I've even hoped the village would knock us out so I can get fed up."

Village administrator Maynard Dils said since the water line along that street dead-ends there, he has ordered a fireplug to be installed at the end of the line in order to drain it. Mayor Len Weatherby said he would have the water clerk look at Simpson's water bills over the past four months to see if some sort of a credit would be allowed.

A Village council meeting, John Lee, received a unanimous vote to become the village's representative on the county's Council for Older Adults. Lee, 28, is a stock broker, and has volunteered for the two-year term and to make regular reports before council. "I've worked with older people in my occupation, and I've worked with the council, and they asked me to serve," said Lee.

In other business, council:

- Passed resolution 97-005, which transfers the cable television non-exclusive franchise for the village from Adelphia Cable to Cable Vision Incorporated (Warner Cable).
- Passed ordinance 97-040, authorizing the mayor to request cooperation from the Ohio director of transportation for the issuance of improvements of portions of U.S. 36 and Ohio 37 within the municipal limits.

- Gave a first reading to ordinance 97-042, prescribing a special sewer connection fee of $400 for certain properties within the village. Such connection permits must be secured on or before Jan. 31, with connection completed on or before April 30. The village's current connection fee for both water and sewer is $3,600 for new builds.

Homeowners may pay the fee in one of three ways: lump sum in four calendar months in 1998; or the chance of non-payment, a lien shall be placed on the tax duplicate.

Big Walnut Creek bridge reopens to traffic

Traffic across Big Walnut Creek on Ohio 37 resumed last week, following a four-month reconstruction project. The completion of that project, and the U.S. 36/Ohio 37 and Ohio 3 intersection improvement project will mean the end of Sunbury's orange barrels, at least until next year's road construction season.

Pay raises for JVS teachers, administrators' OK'd by board

By Mary Motz
Special to The News

Salary increases of about 7 percent were approved Sept. 11 for Delaware JVS teachers and Superintendents William Stalets.

Stalets will earn $75,000, up from $70,000, for performance that "meets or exceeds an A-plus," board President Mike Grote said after the board's regular September meeting.

The vote for a salary increase followed a half-hour executive session during which the board presented Stalets' annual evaluation.

Grote said the board was pleased with Stalets' performance in passing the 1996 levy that allowed the board to purchase its South Campus building, his efforts toward getting that building ready for classroom use, and in overseeing renovations at both campuses.

Board member Jack Emrich, who serves as a representative of the Delaware-Union Educational Service Center board, voted against the raise.

The board had also invited staff and community members to contribute to the evaluation by ranking Stalets on a five-point scale in four categories. The categories, in order of importance, were: educational leadership, 3.8; 4.3; administrative leadership, 3.6, 4.1; community leadership, 4.1, 4.2; personal qualities, 4.4, 4.2.

Grote said the board over the next two or three months will develop specific goals that will be used as part of Stalets' 1998 evaluation.

A total of $14,000 per year will be allowed for tuition reimbursement. Teachers must apply for the program, get approval from a committee of teachers and administrators, and receive board approval.

JVS enrollment deadline extended

The Delaware JVS has extended its high school enrollment deadline for some programs.

JVS will continue to accept new students up through the end of September for the following programs: Marketing and Management, Occupational Work Experience, Pre-College Business Pathways, and Welding.

Students or parents must call the JVS by Sept. 30, and final enrollment arrangements must be made by Oct. 3. The JVS phone number is 548-0708, extension 3200.

The money will then be divided among all teachers who successfully apply each quarter, except that no one will receive more than the actual cost of a class.

The board also approved appropriations of about $11.9 million for the current fiscal year. Of that, about $6.9 million is general fund money, the bulk of which will be disbursed as employee compensation.

Tommie S. Basinger was hired as an assistant director, with a salary of $51,659. JVS assistant directors could be compared to assistant principals, except that rather than being assigned to a specific building, the two directors are divided by duties. Administrators will meet soon to define which duties will be assigned to Basinger, and which will be performed by Dale Hayes, the other assistant director.

Basinger replaces Joy Richards, who resigned. Basinger most recently has been a teacher educator at Wright State University. She also has worked for the Ohio Department of Education, and taught at the University of Toledo.

County Fair winners include dozens of local youths

Tiffany Yinger has a new appreciation for those who exhibit chickens. The Big Walnut graduate said showing a meat chicken was the most difficult part of last week's all-breed Showman of Showmen competition.

"I'm used to bigger animals," said the market and breeding sheep exhibitor and former horse exhibitor at the Delaware County Junior Fair.

Tiffany Yinger has a new appreciation for those who exhibit chickens. The Big Walnut graduate said showing a meat chicken was the most difficult part of last week's all-breed Showman of Showmen competition.

Tiffany Yinger, Tiffany's brother who was representing market lambs because Tyler George was too young to compete, placed second in the event.

For her showmanship finesse, Tiffany was presented a Showman of Showmen jacket. She is a member of the Sunbury County Kids 4-H Club.

Jennifer Moedspauger, EZ Riders 4-H Club, won the first year English showmanship and Showman of Showmen classes at the Delaware County Junior Fair this week.

Other showmanship winners included: Amanda Chaney, Pegasus, English Showmanship; 10-12-year-old Warner, Sunbury Halter and Saddle, English showmanship 11-12; Mandy Myers, Gallop 'n Go, English showmanship 13-14; and Tabitha Hall, Wild Riders, English showmanship 15-18.

U.S. Rep. John Kasich, of Westerville, purchased a lamb at the Delaware County Junior Fair Lamb and Pig Sale and donated it to the Junior Fair to be resold in honor of the Junior Fair's 25th anniversary.

Delaware County Commissioner

Don Wuerz purchased the lamb on Kasich's behalf Sept. 17 from Emily Halas for $3.40 per pound.

The lamb was then resold to Ted

Forman, of Forman Realty, Sunbury, for $2.50 per pound. The sale of the lamb will net the coffers of the Junior Fair $350.

Mike Downerd, Loin Hustlers 4-H Club, exhibited the supreme champion on dairy cows at the Delaware County Junior Fair.

He also finished second in the intermediate division of the Delaware County Junior Fair dairy skillathon, and exhibited the junior champion Ayrshire, reserve junior champion Ayrshire, senior champion Ayrshire, reserve senior champion Ayrshire, the champion Ayrshire, reserve senior champion Guernsey, and champion Guernsey. Mark also exhibited the Ayrshire junior champion intermediate yearling heifer and the Guernsey aged cow at the Ohio State Fair last month.

Entering the reserve champion at the Delaware County Junior Fair was Marie Fleming, Ashley Junior Farmers, second place finisher in the senior division of the dairy skillathon. Marie also exhibited the senior champion Jersey and the champion Jersey.

Tonya Downerd, Loin Hustlers 4-H Club and Mike's brother, exhibited the Junior Fair champion and placed first in the junior division of the dairy skillathon. He also exhibited the junior champion Brown Swiss, reserve junior champion Brown Swiss, reserve champion Brown Swiss, and champion Brown Swiss.

Other winners included: Brad Henney, Pegasus 4-H Club, and dairy skillathon senior division third place; Heather Longshore, Condit Livestock, reserve junior champion Holstein; Matt Whitaker, Udders & Stuff, junior champion Jersey, reserve senior champion Jersey, and winner of the intermediate division of the dairy skillathon.

Other showmanship winners included: Amanda Chaney, Pegasus, English Showmanship; 10-12-year-old Warner, Sunbury Halter and Saddle, English showmanship 11-12; Mandy Myers, Gallop 'n Go, English showmanship 13-14; and Tabitha Hall, Wild Riders, English showmanship 15-18.

Brad Debolt, left, and Heather Longshore were stein, and finished third in the dairy skillathon senior division.

That set a new Delaware County

Junior Fair pig and lamb sale record, and earned the Wilmington College-bound 4-H'er $3,960. The previous record was $11,50 a pound.

Travis McDonald's college fund got a great big boost last week, when the Delaware County Junior Fair Queen sold her grand champion market hog for $16.50 a pound to the Kroger Co.

That set a new Delaware County Junior Fair pig and lamb sale record, and earned the Wilmington College-bound 4-H'er $3,960. The previous record was $11,50 a pound.

Delaware Meats paid $10.25 a pound for the reserve champion individual market lamb exhibited by Tiffany Yinger, Delaware County Junior Fair all-breed Showman.

A moment of silence was held for Harlem Township teen-ager John Bachman, who died in January at the age of 16. At last year's sale, a large stuffed pig was auctioned to raise money to help defray John's medical expenses. He suffered from leukemia and received a bone marrow transplant from his sister, Jean Bachman. Another sister, Julie Bachman, exhibited a market pig at this year's fair.

Jennifer DeLong, 14, and her female Holland lop rabbit won the Showman of Showmen award Sept. 15 at the Delaware County Junior Fair Rabbit Show.

Jennifer is a member of the Hare Raisers 4-H Club and attends Big Walnut Middle School.

Brian Hartman of Fletcher, Ohio, one of the competition's judges, told the packed crowd, "It was simply amazing the amount of knowledge that Jennifer knew about her rabbit and rabbits in general. We could not stump her."

Jennifer said the key is to get the rabbits used to the handling and distracting noises that go along with competition. Jennifer was a showman winner with her rabbits at the 1996 Fair.

Other skillathon winners included: Brad Henney, Pegasus 4-H Club, and dairy skillathon senior division third place; Heather Longshore, Condit Livestock, reserve junior champion Holstein; Matt Whitaker, Udders & Stuff, junior champion Jersey, reserve senior champion Jersey, and winner of the intermediate division of the dairy skillathon.

Tara Cain, 11, of Big Walnut Middle School and the Hare Raisers 4-H Club won the 10-11-year-old class with her 5 month old Holland lop, "Momma's Cookin'."

Sarah DeLong, 9, won the novice class of 8- to 9-year-old competitors with her female Holland lop, "Lucy." Sarah attends Big Walnut schools and belongs to Hare Raisers.

Anna Rosen, 12, and her goat, "Phillie," took the top honors in the Showman of Showmen competition at the Dairy Goat Show at the Delaware County Junior Fair Tuesday. Anna attends Big Walnut Middle School and is a member of Kids, Yearlings, and Milkers 4-H Club.

Delaware Arts Castle announces fall lineup

Fall is the season for fun at the Arts Castle in Delaware, with something for everyone to be involved.

The Delaware County Cultural Arts Center (the Arts Castle) will offer a variety of classes and workshops, with registration continuing throughout the fall quarter.

On Sept. 27, two classes will begin. "Fall Nature Prints," for children ages nine to 12, will allow them to use photographic paper to create images with items found in nature.

"Come Dance with Me," for children ages two to three, will allow toddlers to play with bubbles, parachutes, and hula hoops for an adventurous way to learn about dance. In this interactive parent/child class, parents can share in their child's first dance experience in which weekly themes combine large motor skills as well as music and art projects.

On Oct. 4, "Art Smart for Kids" will allow children of all ages to design a magnet with their very own work of art.

Other classes for kids include: "I'm All Ears!," "Personalized Pumpkins," "Haunting Halloween Masks," "Ghosts and Goblins," "Drawing for Kids," "Clay for Kids," "Fimo Holiday Designs," "Holiday Ornaments for Kids," and "Gingerbread Houses."

Dance classes for children ages three and older also are being held at the Arts Castle. Beginners, ages 3 to 5, may want to start with "Creative Movement," which incorporates basic ballet techniques and terminology in a playful environment.

Other classes include: "Fun with Ballet," "Creative Movement for Boys," "Fun with Ballet and Tap," "Beginning Jazz," "Intermediate Tap," "Intermediate Jazz," "Ballet," and "Pre-Pointe."

Musician to perform at Sunbury UMC

The Sunbury United Methodist Church and Blessings Christian Book Store are hosting Yohann Anderson, founder of the San Francisco-based "Songs and Creations," from Sept. 26 to 28.

On Sept. 27, Anderson will conduct a workshop for about 125 people who have registered. A "Community Praise Gathering" will be held that evening at 6:30 p.m. The Revs. David and Suzanne Hill of Sunbury United Methodist invite all to join this evening of praise through songs and communion. A love offering will be taken.

Anderson is an ordained minister, and spent 15 years as an associate pastor, specializing in youth, worship, and participation. He also is the creator of the original songbook, "Songs," and is a published author on the subjects of group dynamics and the creative use of music.

Anderson has been a song leader and conference speaker for many years, and will be leading music workshops at the National Youth and Children's Ministry Convention in Chicago, in January.

The Tubbs family, pictured above, will present their musical ministry on Oct. 5 at 6 p.m. at the Sunbury Church of the Nazarene. Free admission is available at the church, or by calling 965-2760.

Since 1984, the Tubbs family concerts have taken them to 46 states and 15 denominations, as audiences enjoy their softer blend of inspirational music.

Jim and Shirley Tubbs are graduates of Olivet. Their three daughters, Evie, Marcie, and Jamie often share a musical presentation that have recorded three albums. Jim has written many of their songs, which are currently being performed by several solo and group artists throughout the United States and Canada.

News from New Bethel

By Fern Glaze

"We are my friends, if we do whatsoe'er I command you." John 15:14

Sunday was "Friend Day" at New Bethel, and this Bible verse was the theme for the day. Pastor John Dotson chose Matthew 16:13 and John 20:11-16 for his fine message. We had a real good crowd who attended this special service with many "new friends."

Penny Dotson directed the Junior Choir singing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands." The Senior Choir sang "Because He Lives" and "What A Day That Will Be" directed by Mildred Della Flora.

Another good day at New Bethel. Warren Hammond is celebrating another birthday this week.

Donna Wallick is improving slowly from her recent illness.

Clarence Hancock is about the same as last week.

Pastor John and Penny Dotson and daughters Rachel, Heidi, and Lindsay attended services Friday evening at the church they attended before moving to the New Bethel area. They spent time with Penny's mother who was surprised Saturday when her whole family arrived to help celebrate her birthday.

Thursday, Warren and Lois Hammond and Verena Warner took Helen Dongaghout out for lunch in a Newark restaurant.

Clarice Cramer, Ted and Donna Cross, and Merle and Ruth Potter were weekend callers of Florence Cross.

Virginia Ballard of Westerville spent Sunday with Donna Wallick and attended services at New Bethel together as they did in their time.

Linda Hale and Mel Von Howell, her aunt and uncle from Columbus, traveled to Sidney, Kentucky, last week. From there, they picked up Linda's mom, Arminida, and three more aunts, Sylvia, Leona, and Dolly. They all went to Pigeon Forge, Tenn., in the Smoky Mountains.

While there, they visited Dollywood, the Dixie Stampede, Citrus Gardens, and rode the aerial tram to the top of the Smokies. During a 11-mile auto tour of the land of Cades Cove, they visited a 100-year-old primitive Baptist church, a log cabin, and were fortunate to see black bear.

Hoover cleanup set for Saturday

The City of Columbus is planning a Hoover Reservoir clean-up for Sept. 26 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Individual volunteers and community service organizations are needed for the event. Volunteers are asked to meet on the west side of the reservoir dam, in the parking lot. Trash bags, gloves and other cleanup equipment will be provided, as will refreshments. For more information, call 645-1221.

College info night set for BWHS

A college planning night will be held Oct. 6 at Big Walnut High School from 7 to 8 p.m.

Perry Robinson, director of admissions at Denison University, and Jonathan Greene, financial aid counselor at Ohio Wesleyan University, will be the speakers.

Robinson will discuss college selection process, application evaluation, and writing college essays.

Greene will talk about the financial aid process.

The presentations will be in room 212. Contact guidance counselor Mark Predieri for more information.

Custom software firm headed to Sunbury

By Roula Amire

Instead of buying computer packages that fulfill only 70 percent of your needs, you could have one that does it all.

"We are a total solution provider for businesses' software needs," said Michael Hallabrin, a partner of Initiative Business Solutions (IBS). His partners are Edward Nice and Dan Pannell.

They custom develop computer software and will move their headquarters from Dublin to Sunbury by the start of 1998.

"We wanted a more comfortable and pleasant country environment," Hallabrin said. "Sunbury is a perfect opportunity."

Created in 1993 by Nice, IBS designs software suited to the needs of its clients.

"I saw an opportunity for serving the financial services industry," Nice said.

They create software for banks that will track, report, and generate transactions as well as develop software for businesses who wish to automate their office.

"What the customer needs ... so there's no surprise when the product comes out," Hallabrin said. "In the long run, it will be the most inexpensive way to meet their needs."

"IBS' prices are competitive with other designers and developers of customized software technology," he said.

Their clients, primarily in banking, finance, or electronic commerce areas, are located throughout the country.

IBS also develops Internet software.

"We specialize in dynamic web pages which link web pages to an underlying database," Hallabrin said. "Dynamic web pages automatically reflect the info up-to-date to the database. The majority of web pages on the market are static; the information remains the same," he said.

"We integrate the best of the database technology with the best of the Internet technology."

IBS designs pages that are commerce enabled; consumers can order materials directly from the page or conduct business via the Internet.

"We can customize businesses' web sites so they will be able to communicate to potential clients and allow customers to order their material over the Internet," Hallabrin said.

"We write software that allows banks' customers to talk to them electronically," Nice added.

IBS is also co-owner of Plexis, an Internet provider.

Not attempting to compete with numerous national and local Internet providers, IBS provides high bandwidth access to the Internet for commercial customers who want all their employees to have access to the web.

Bandwidth allows multiple people to have access to the Internet via one line.

Not only do they create software, they help others do the same.

"We co-develop with them as well (as) give them customer training," Hallabrin said. They are hired by clients that have a data processing staff and who want to learn more about the technology. They consult and train them using Microsoft development tools, Hallabrin said.

"We write software that allows banks' customers to talk to them electronically," Nice added.

IBS will be located behind Village Crafts on 28-C N. Vernon St. Currently, the office is being used by some of the firm's network engineers.

"We are also planning to expand to meet our ever increasing client demands," Hallabrin said.

As the use of the Internet and personal computers grows, "the need for customer software solutions is going to be growing. We see things looking very bright."

Business partners relocate in Sunbury

Intuitive Business Solutions, a computer software development company, plans to relocate to Sunbury from Dublin by the start of next year. From left, IBS partners Edward Nice, Michael Hallabrin, and Dan Pannell look forward to moving into their North Vernon Street office.

Cozy Cottage Antique Mall, formerly Nestor's Antiques in Westerville, is introducing a totally new concept in antique shows — parlor shows.

Mall owners Tom and Mary Zastudil have seen many changes in the antiques business over the past 20 years.

"We feel there is now a need to return to an emphasis on quality rather than quantity," said Mary Zastudil. Therefore, we have created a 'parlor' within our mall large enough to accommodate a quality show, but small enough to necessitate the elimination of 'junque'."

Each month the parlor show will feature a different specialty. The scheduled features through the end of the year, said Zastudil, are: primitives in September; pottery in October; Victoriana in November; and Christmas in December.

To receive an invitation to the Preview Sale, or for dealer information, call the Zastudils at Cozy Cottage by phone at 882-1939, by fax at 965-9330, or by e-mail at zstd@infinite.com. Cozy Cottage is located at 169 N. Otterbein Ave. in Westerville.

Boys Soccer Topples Tree With 4th Shutout

By Steve Kesler

THE BIG WALNUT BOYS VARSITY SOCCER TEAM posted its third shutout of the season Tuesday.

BW, fifth in the area Division II poll, defeated Tree of Life 4-0 at Columbus. BW stands 6-2-1 overall.

Bixley, Bixley, up the Eagles up 1-0 in the first half. Jeff May, Jared Bradford, and Travis Williams all scored goals in the second half.

"It's good to get back on the winning track," said Coach Brodhead after two losses, and a tie.

Zero Spero, and Joe Kuhn, did not play due to injuries suffered against Bixley. Joe Circle was moved into the back to help.

Bob McNamara gained his first shutout with three saves.

The Eagles, after leading in the first half, finished in a 1-all tie against Olentangy in non-league action at the high school last Thursday.

Brodhead scored the goal with 35:00 remaining in the first half.

A BW player might have inadvertently kicked in the Braves' score, which was credited to Steve Moore, with 13:34 to go in the second half.

"We didn't do anything to set the tempo in the second half," said Coach Brodhead. "We were unable to sustain any offensive pressure."

McNamara, a sophomore, drew praise for his efforts in replacing injured Andy Owens in the BW goal. "Bobby stepped up and did the job for us," said Coach Brodhead.

BW suffered its first shutout of the season, losing 4-0 at state ranked Bixley last Saturday evening.

"We held on until two minutes of the first half, and played pretty well," commented Coach Brodhead.

The Lions then used a penalty kick to go up 1-0, and scored again a minute later.

McNamara and Morgan combined for 13 saves with two shots on goal.

BW Footballers Open OCC With School Scoring Record

By Steve Kesler

BIG WALNUT BEGAN THE OHIO CAPITAL CONFERENCE WITH A BANG, establishing a new school scoring record in a 63-13 home victory over Delaware Hayes last Friday.

"I'm a little bit awed at our kids tonight," commented Coach Rex Stover. "It's our first win over the Pacers since taking over the program five years ago."

"This is real surprising," he added as the Eagles went 2-2 overall.

"The 63 points is a tribute to our offense; Rollie (DeLong) did a great job of preparing our offensive line."

Sophomore quarterback/defensive back Rob Stover scored four touchdowns to share the school mark with several others.

Stover earned his own number on third-and-five sweeping in for the TD, and Nick Agin needed through the extra point with 1:24 remaining in the first quarter. Dan Reckner's punt return set BW up at its own 44 with Brian Bradford and Stover doing most of the damage in the second.

Stover capped a three-play, 29-yard drive by darting the final 15 yards and Nick Morrison ran in the two-point conversion with 10:32 left in the second quarter. Randy Russell set up the score with an interception.

Stover reached the end zone again with 13 seconds to go in the first half by intercepting a pass and dashng 75 yards. Adam Hicks booted the extra point.

BW's pay dirt once more on its second possession in the third quarter when Stover carried the last five yards and Hicks kicked the extra point with 5:20. Stover, Morrison, and Brian Bradford handled running duties in a drive that started after the hosts held up on the clock.

The Eagles traveled 55 yards in seven plays on its first possession of the game, Morrison carrying the ball in the end zone with 8:00. A bad snap resulted in Agin's kick and cut 41 yards through the Pacers defense with 2:15. Hicks added on the extra point.

Delaware scored when the kick-off return man fumbled and his teammate picked up the loose ball and scampered 56 yards for the TD. BW responded by totaling 57 straight points, starting with Bradford's two-yard plunge and two-point run with 5:10 left in the first quarter. Bradford finished with 169 rushing on 23 carries in just a little over two quarters of work.

Reckner picked off a pass late in the first period, and after a clipping penalty, BW started at midfield.

Following off-setting penalties, Rick Davis sprinted 40 yards for the TD with no time on the clock. Agin's kick was off to the left.

Bradford and Morrison advanced BW to the 41 in the second quarter.

Two plays later, Agin took a pitch and cut 41 yards through the Pacers defense with 2:15. Hicks added on the extra point.

Agin wrapped up the Eagle scoring with 13 seconds to go in the third. After BW held Hayes on fourth down, Agin sprinted 45 yards two plays later for the TD and Andy Yount split the uprights.

Ston Whaley dropped a 35-18 Ohio Capital Conference contest at Delaware Hayes on Saturday, Sept. 13.

Ston Whaley scored a touchdown on an 80-yard kickoff return. He also intercepted two passes.

B.J. Henton scored a TD on a 10-yard run. Paul Ross also came up with an interception.

SELLING YOUR HOUSE?
What are the seller's closing costs?

A seller customarily pays for an owner's title insurance policy, a closing fee to the title company, a recording fee for cancellation of mortgage, transfer tax, and fees for termite and utility inspections.

A seller will also give the buyer a credit for accrued but unpaid real estate tax and pay for the preparation of the deed, the broker's commission, and other charges agreed to by the purchase contract.

DID YOU KNOW? That these fees and costs will be just about the same regardless of where you close on your sale? That you, the seller, can decide where your sale closes? That you can close your sale here in Sunbury? Questions? Give me a call.

All Golden Buckeyes age 50 and over are invited!

BECAUSE SPORTSMEN PAY OVER $3 MILLION EACH DAY FOR CONSERVATION...

America's "Un-endangered Species"®

ROCKY MOUNTAIN ELK

IN 1907: The number of America's most magnificent wildlife species was headed toward extinction with less than 41,000 remaining in the nation.

TODAY: There are about 800,000 thanks to wildlife restoration and conservation programs paid for primarily by hunters and anglers.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN ELK ISN'T THE ONLY SPECIES TO BENEFIT FROM THE SPORTSMAN'S DOLLARS:

DEER WILD TURKEY PRONGHORN CANADA GOOSE

IN 1900: Less than 100,000 white-tailed deer remained in the U.S.

TODAY: Conservation programs have restored the white-tailed deer population to about 10 million.

DEER WILD TURKEY PRONGHORN CANADA GOOSE

IN 1945: The pronghorn antelope population dropped below 12,000.

TODAY: Habitat restoration and restocking programs have returned it to about 1 million.

DEER WILD TURKEY PRONGHORN CANADA GOOSE

IN 1947: Only about 1.2 million remained in the U.S.

TODAY: Wildlife habitat restoration has increased the Canada Goose population to about 3,760,000.

DEER WILD TURKEY PRONGHORN CANADA GOOSE

Virtually every species of wildlife from songbirds and chipmunks to bald eagles and whooping cranes, benefits from programs supported through the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and proceeds from special excise taxes on hunting and fishing.

To recognize these contributions to protect our wildlife and the environment, Congress established NATIONAL HUNTING & FISHING DAY in 1972, to be celebrated the fourth Saturday of September each year. This year, on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, join America's hunters and anglers in supporting conservation.

Police reports

SUNBURY

An Orchard Lane resident reported that someone broke into his vehicle and stole car stereo equipment, compact discs, and a pager. The incident occurred between 10 p.m. Sept. 18 and 9:10 a.m. Sept. 19. The stereo equipment was valued at $400, the compact discs were worth $450, and the pager was valued at $90. The vehicle was parked at the Orchard Lane residence.

Sunbury police arrested a 16-year-old Galena boy Sept. 19 for driving under the influence of alcohol, and other offenses.

The teen was observed about 9:18 p.m. turning from Letts Avenue east onto Granville Street by a Sunbury Police officer. The teen squealed the tires of his vehicle, and drove across the center lane. Police initiated a traffic stop, and noticed the odor of alcohol on his breath. He failed field sobriety tests, according to the police report, and later admitted having consumed alcohol and smoked marijuana earlier in the evening. Police found in his vehicle a green, leafy substance, presumed to be marijuana.

He was charged with squealing tires, prohibition, and drug abuse in addition to driving under the influence.

The reconstructed Ohio 37 bridge over Big Walnut Creek had been opened 24 hours before it was vandalized with spray paint.

A construction worker reported to police that someone painted graffiti on several locations on the

A resounding sigh of relief could be heard around the township as the Delaware County Fair came to a close. There were many successful Junior Fair Exhibitors. Kenda Albertson would perhaps be considered one of the more sensational winners. Her Pen of 3 Market Rabbits won Grand Champion, as well as Reserve Showman.

The breeding outcome on her rabbits broke all records. Buckeye Tractor purchased her rabbits for the highest price in the fair's history in this category. Seth Albertson placed sixth for his Pen of 3 Market Rabbits.

The Damrons also had several prizes. Blake took second for his goats, third and fourth for his hog, and fifth in showmanship. Lee took fifth and sixth for his lamb, second for Pen of 2 lambs, and third in showmanship. Curtis took second for his milk Toggenburg Goat and fourth in this class for his Junior Buck Rabbit.

The Cornetts reported several wins at the Fair. Crystal claimed the Best Conservation Exhibit, Best of Class in Creative Arts, Outstanding Rocket, and Outstanding Science Project.

Jennifer took two first place prizes, reserve champion for her bunnies, as well as two third place prizes. She also received A's in her rocket project and her sticky buns.

Congratulations to all of the winners.

The southern end of Carter's Corner will be closed for the remainder of the week due to culverts being installed around the Big Walnut sawmill area.

Tower planned for Kingston Township

A communications tower will be erected near the intersection of Carter's Corner and Kilbourne roads, county zoning inspector Fred Fowler said Sept. 23.

He said he was recently notified of American Portable Telecom's intent to erect a tower on the Kilbourne property about 200 feet south of the intersection.

Fowler said there were no objections to the proposal to erect the tower. American Portable Telecom was required to notify township and county officials and adjacent landowners of its intentions to build the tower. Objections were to be registered within 15 days of notification, Fowler said, citing new regulations in the Ohio Revised Code dealing with communications tower construction.

The notification was received by the commissioners in mid-August, Fowler said. Kingston Township trustees reviewed the notification at the 2 meeting.

bridge between 10:30 p.m. Sept. 18 and 9:52 a.m. Sept. 19.

A West Cherry Street resident was observed burning debris at his home, and warned against the activity by Sunbury Police on Sept. 15.

Two juveniles admitted entering an East Cherry Street house sometime between Aug. 29 and Sept. 1, and taking a Remington shotgun.

The gun was found abandoned near Sunbury Heights apartment.
