

Residents Question BW Board About Funding

Big Walnut residents questioned board of education members about school funding and the May levy during last Thursday evening's public meeting.

Board president Jim Heine opened the meeting by explaining how the school district is funded.

He said the school district receives 40 mills in effective millage rates, which is voted millage after tax reduction factors. As property values increase, tax reduction factors are applied to the voted millage, which is the effective millage.

He explained (based on a handout) that the school district needs additional operating funds because of state budget cuts and minimal growth in overall state funding; increased utilities and other facility operating expenses and additional personnel due to the new high school and elementary reorganization, increased wages and health insurance premiums, which have increased by 20 percent; and increased costs passed on to the district by other agencies, such as the county board of education.

Superintendent Carl Martin said if an income levy is placed on the May ballot and it passes, the school district will not receive the first full collection until approximately 18 months later.

Martin said the school district will receive quarterly payments from the state.

Heine added that an income tax levy is based on the ability to pay, not on what residents own and it allows the district to go "up and down with the times." In addition, credit is given to senior citizens, he said.

Roger Antolik began the questioning by saying, "State dollars are constant. Your estimates show constant, but everyone keeps talking about cuts."

Heine responded by saying, "right now" state dollars are constant. Martin said the board is going on the assumption that the school district will receive no more this year than it did last year.

"What's worse than a cut is no growth," Martin said.

The school district was 55 percent state funded, but over the last five years that figure has dropped to 50 percent, according to Martin.

Antolik said he heard that the school district may receive 20 percent more than it anticipated from residents not correctly filing their state income tax returns with the school district. Martin said he thought it was more like 10 percent, instead of 20 percent. Antolik responded by saying he received this information through Rep. Joan Lawrence's office.

Martin told The News that the percentage will have to be verified through state sources.

Resident Kathy West said in 1989 her property taxes went up by $100 when they were supposed to increase by $60.

Heine said her property taxes probably went up that year due to the bond issue's passing that November.

Martin explained that as growth occurs, property taxes are rolled back, however.

Board member Mike Stumpf said millage goes down as a community grows (as local property values increase, 20 mills of the increase is automatically reduced from state funds that the district receives).

With income tax levy, as the community grows, the income grows.

Antolik said, "A 10-mill increase (which is equivalent to a 1-percent income tax levy) three months ago seemed like a heck of a lot, especially when a 3.3-mill (now 2.8) levy would be asked for again." He said he saw that as one of the major problems for the levy.

Martin said it was too early to make a decision about putting the 3.3-mill emergency levy, which expires in December, back on the ballot.

Resident Jerry West said the board should put only one issue on the ballot, not two. "Maybe I like one, but I don't like the other, so I'll vote against both," he said.

The board's options are: another income tax levy; an income tax levy with the possibility of giving back millage on property, meaning the school district could allow the 2.8-mill emergency levy to expire; or a property tax.

Martin said the law states that if a school district gives back millage on property, there must be a continuing income tax.

Antolik said he thinks the 1-percent income tax would have passed in November if the school district would have stipulated allowing the 3.3-mill emergency levy to expire indefinitely.

Resident Valerie Pedersen asked how much millage the board can take off each year. Heine responded by saying the school district may always ask for less millage any year without a vote.

Resident Scott Beaver said, "You should say this is what we can do with five mills. At some point you'll find the ledge people won't go over. Right now, you have a cliff at 10 mills."

"It will probably go down in flames, and I hope it does," Beaver said about the levy on May's ballot.

Resident Kathy West said, "We're paying for a cheerleader (beaver) and a drama teacher. Plays are real nice, but do we really need them?"

She continued, "I'll do a line item for you (for making cuts)."

"You say you're going to cut bussing," she said.

Beaver responded to her by saying, "It's blackball."

Stumpf said as far as extra curricular activities go, about 80 percent of students are involved in some after-school activities. "It's a philosophical question about whether it's education," he said.

Antolik said, "The three's code first, then if you have any money left, then you can do these things (extra curricular activities)."

"We haven't said we're going to do these things (make certain cuts)," Martin responded.

He continued, "We're trying to have a general concern about what to do. It's your school district, we need guidance."

Martin said residents will have to decide what is important to them. "I'm finding that what's a luxury to some parents is a necessity to others," he said.

Beaver replied, "If you asked if you need a good science or English program, the consensus would be pretty high for these programs."

Martin said if the board members and residents were not having a meeting about the levy and school funding, they would be having meetings about not having decent buildings or a good education program.

Leaves are a fact of life in Ohio," he commented.

The superintendent reiterated that Big Walnut is a basic school district. "We're not paying $100,000 in dollars compared to other districts. I think the dollar value is good. I really do," Martin said.

Residents are being asked to pay for a better education program, according to Martin. This improved education program is an accumulation of six to eight years of work, he said.

Another public meeting will be held this Sunday beginning at 2 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Ben Martin Launches Into Space at U.S. Academy

by Karen Cairrell

Just a couple of weeks before the Endeavor astronauts blasted into space last Wednesday in order to place satellites, 13-year-old Ben "Buzz" Martin was working on shuttles and in mission control.

The Kingston township resident performed these and other activities at the U.S. Space Academy in Huntsville, Ala., after receiving the trip as a Christmas gift.

"I had to leave only a day after I found out about it."

"My parents knew I would like it because I've been interested in this since I was a little kid," Martin says.

While rocketing through Space Academy Level 1, Martin thinks he "learned everything that real astronauts learn."

The young astronaut-hopeful and his fellow crewmen were required to complete two shuttle missions.

Martin explains that he was a SEVAT 1, which involves performing an extra vehicular activity, during the first mission. He says his mission was to connect together struts and nodes, round objects about the size of golf balls, with the help of a partner on the outside of the shuttle. "This holds together the whole thing," he explains.

He completed this activity while wearing a spacesuit, complete with helmet and gloves. "They're hot, really hot. I wore an LCG, that's a liquid cooling garment because the suit was so hot," Martin explains.

He had Five Degrees of Freedom, meaning he could move in five different directions while performing his SEVAT 1 duties in his spacesuit.

"Buzz" acted as launching-landing director in mission control for the second shuttle mission.

These were just two activities that made Martin feel like an astronaut preparing for a real mission. He also experienced the feeling of going into an uncontrollable spin, walking on a moon, operating a Man Maneuvering Unit and exploring Mars, all in simulators.

His favorite simulator is the multi-access trainer consisting of three large rings that throw the rider into a spin.

"People think you can get sick on this, but you can't because there is fluid in your ears that helps you keep your balance. You never do the same maneuver twice, so you won't get sick. They tell you to focus your eyes on one thing (the control panel) and keep your head against the pad," Martin explains.

Martin has an idea of what Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. experienced when they walked weightlessly on the moon for the first time in 1969. Buzz Martin took his stroll on the moon's surface via the "Moonwalker" chair with springs, which helps the occupant have the feeling of weightlessness.

After "walking on the moon," he took a spin over the heavenly blue surface with the Man Maneuvering Unit's help. This hydraulic machine allows the operator to go upside down and to the right and left, Martin explains.

One simulator that Martin did not try was the Centrifuge, which is a chair that puts about 3G of force on the occupant. There is only 1G, which is gravitational force, on Earth, Martin says.

"I knew I would get sick on that one," he smiles.

The astronaut-hopeful caught a glimpse of the future through the Mars Explorer 1 replica of a space station on that planet.

Martin saw the place where orbiters' main engines are tested at the Marshall Space Flight Center. "I learned a lot there," he says.

He explains that the "big tower with a chute" has 18-inch-thick walls, 12-inch-thick doors and bulletproof windows. The tower also has secret underground tunnels, Martin says.

Besides seeing the authentic place where orbiters' main engines are tested, Martin also heard a lecture from a real U.S. Space Program researcher who is helping to develop plans for NASA. This researcher worked under Werner von Braun of Germany. Von Braun was a space researcher during and after World War II. After the war, he came to the United States to work with its space program.

After listening to lectures and watching movies every evening of the 5-day academy program, Martin and the other approximately 200 space adventurers put what they had learned to work through competitors.

Martin was required to build a 2-stage rocket for "Launch Day."

A 2-stage rocket has two engines. The first-stage engine gets it off the ground, and the second stage fires and keeps it going, Martin says.

"I'm used to building rockets because I built a 1-stage rocket at Space Camp," he says. Martin says he attended this camp with his brother, Dave, in August, 1991, also in Huntsville, Ala.

He was assigned to launch pad no. 12 on Launch Day, but his team leader inadvertently told another participant to use launch pad no. 12 and shoot off Martin's rocket. "Since I didn't get to shoot off my rocket, I shot off his," he says.

"I didn't get to keep mine because when the shot it off, it landed in a tree," Martin says.

He continued, "I took a couple of pictures of my rocket going up, but you couldn't see anything because it was so high."

The approximately 14 teams were divided into smaller groups for the space station contest. Martin was assigned to the "Enterprise" team, which won the competition.

He had to draw plans on transparencies for life-support systems for crews.

"When we won, we cheered, but it wasn't really a big deal. We just got shuttle pins," Martin says.

He continues, "We competed in everything. It wasn't like the space camp that I attended with my dad."

Friday, Jan. 1, was graduation day for all participants. "I didn't know if I would be sad or glad," he recalls.

The Big Walnut Middle School seventh grader met children from Michigan, Alabama, Tennessee, Wisconsin and Georgia on his team.

"We gave each other nicknames. My name was Buzz because of my flat top (haircut)," Martin smiles.

Participants stay in a dorm called Habitat, which is a replica of a future space station, according to Martin.

"It was fun staying there on New Year's because somebody on the third floor threw a confetti bomb, and everybody started running around in a hurry and ran back to my room and pretended like I was asleep in case someone looked in, but no one did," Martin says.

He does not know if he will later attend Space Academy Level II or Aviation Challenge, both of which are for older children.

Martin says if he does not become an astronaut he would like to be a chemist. "I would like to work with the U.S. Space Program," he states.

Genoa Trustees Name Barber as Chairman for '93

Genoa twp. Board of Trustees held their annual re-organization meeting Jan. 7, naming Helen Barber chairman for 1993.

Pat Blayney was elected vice-chairman, and David Boggs is the third trustee. Genoa Trustees met the second and fourth Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., excepting the three summer months, when they meet the second Wednesday, only.

Township clerk is Jean Evans, with Kimberly Mann her full-time assistant. Township's offices, at 5007 Tussock Street Rd., are open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

At their organizational meeting, trustees set the pay scale and employment policies for township employees. Trustees accepted the resignation of Robert Taylor as Chief of Police, effective Jan. 3, after he was rehired at $19.84 per hour.

Michael Disbennett was rehired as road superintendent and cemetery and parks groundskeeper, at $13.50 per hour. And, Donald Bauman was re-named fire chief, at $6,000 per year, and Robert Dunkel his assistant, at $2,000.

Clerk Evans was named acting zoning inspector while the township looks for a new inspector. Jean was also named secretary of the township planning-zoning commission, at $45 per hearing, and of the board of zoning appeals, at $25 per hearing.

Trustee Barber is Genoa's alternate representative to the Delaware County Regional Planning Commission, and Boggs is the township's representative to the county's health board. The trustees voted to pay 28c per mile for mileage reimbursement during 1993.

BW's Child Check Screening To Be This Monday

Big Walnut schools, in conjunction with the information will automatically be fed into a centralized computer at the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus.

The screening will be conducted from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at the Big Walnut Administration Building in Galena and will cover vision and hearing, height and weight, speech and language, concepts and motor skills, according to Edna Kimm, director of special education.

After the screening is completed, parents will receive information showing how the child is developing in each of those areas compared with other children in his or her age group, and activities that they may use with their children at home and information about community agencies and resources that are available to help build child's strengths and weaknesses, according to Kimm.

Children who will be five by Sept. 30 should be screened at the kindergarten screenings in June.

Title Dept. Goes on State Computer Monday

Delaware county Clerk of Court's "One-Stop" Title Agency will be closed Monday as the county office implements the state's new Automated Title Processing system.

Clerk Betty Porter reports the $100 additional fee per title Ohio owners have been paying since 1987 to fund the new system in Delaware county, as well as the state's other 87 counties. "We're the 81st county to have it installed," Porter says, "which, in this case, is beneficial as they've worked out most of the problems by now."

With the new system, Porter explains, all titles, whether for motor vehicles, watercraft or outboard motors, will look alike.

"People will have to make sure they read them, to determine they have the right one when they come to see us."

The new title form conforms to federal regulations; Betty adds, and becomes a universal form for a new title. As persons apply for a new title, the information will automatically be fed into a centralized computer at the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus.

Motorola, Inc., has the contract for installing the system throughout Ohio, and the company and personnel from the Ohio BMV will be on hand at the Delaware "one-stop" office next week to help title employees with questions.

"So we're asking the public to be patient. We've prided ourselves on one-day service, but until we get the new system down, we may take a little longer in some cases," Porter says.

Betty adds that fees for the registration of titles for vehicles, boats and motors will not change. The fee is $3.00, she says, "when the average around the country is $10 to $15."

She emphasizes the money for paying for the new system is not coming out of county coffers, "but from the state-wide Automated Title Processing System board, being paid by that extra $100 fee."

The Clerk of Court's Title Dept., is located with the Deputy Registrar's office in the Georgetown Centre building at Grady Memorial Hospital, off W. Central Ave. in Delaware. Not only does the "one-stop" office issue titles, but also license plates and driver's licenses.

'First on Scene' Safety Program Is Next Saturday

Delaware county's second "First On The Scene," an emergency and accident response training program, will be held Saturday, Jan. 30, from 10:00 to 12:30 at the Delaware Joint Vocational School.

The program has been set up to help educate individuals and families about how to prevent accidents on and off the farm. The emphasis this year is on on-farm take-off injuries, reports the Delaware County Farm Bureau.

Designed for farm families, each segment of the program is led by personnel representing sponsoring agencies. They include: Adult - Grady Memorial Hospital - Farm and Agricultural Health and O.S.U. Extension; Teen - Grady Memorial Hospital; School Age - Children's Farm Safety for Just Kids; and Preschooler to Second Grade - Buckeye Valley Young Farmers.

Some of the speakers who will be present to tell their stories: David Miller, Delaware County Farm Bureau safety coordinator, encourages farm families and visitors to learn more about what to do in case of an accident.

The program is free and open to everyone. Light refreshments will be provided by the Delaware County Farm Bureau. Door prizes will be given.

For additional information, contact either the Delaware County Farm Bureau office or Mary Fleming, Grady Memorial Hospital.

LETTER

TO THE EDITOR

READER SAYS RESIDENTS SHOULD SUPPORT SCHOOLS, ATTEND BOARD MEETINGS

Dear Editor:
We who have children are very fortunate to be in the Big Walnut School District. You would be very hard-pressed to find in any other district the quality of caring and giving teachers that we have. We are a great school district that can compare and stand along side any of the others.

For those of you who feel there is a teacher who is less than your expectations, I'm sure there are a dozen in the district who exceed your expectations!

We need to maintain the high quality of teachers and the high quality of education we now have.

Without sufficient operating funds, we could lose some of these teachers to other districts. Many newly hired teachers are just as valuable to the district as the veteran teachers. We could lose busing, extra curricular activities, and add more children per teacher in the classroom.

It could happen in our district as it has in others; we are not immune from it. Many taxpayers who feel they already pay enough taxes or who no longer have children in Big Walnut schools unfortunately believe that they should no longer help to fund the schools. It is this type of thinking that could ruin this district.

If a family puts two children through Big Walnut Schools, the total cost of educating these two children over a 12-year period is approximately $93,000 based on a yearly per-child cost of $3,917 (which is lower than all districts around us).

Clearly, something more is needed if Big Walnut is to continue to provide the same top-quality education at its relatively low costs.

Ohio is facing a budget deficit in 1993, and it is fair to say that the funding to state public schools will continue to be reduced. If there isn't a place left to cut, further cuts could devastate us.

For those of you who are in any way interested in how your tax money is spent on education, attend the board meetings - then decide if you want to support a levy. If you have a problem with the system, tell them.

Once you get involved, you'll know first-hand how the money is spent. You won't have to rely on second-hand information of how somebody else thinks the money is spent.

Maybe you'll have a great idea that could save the district money. And, just maybe, it will be another way to show your kids how much you care about them, because you care what happens to their schools.

Let's keep supporting Big Walnut schools. After all, all we have at stake is our children's future.

Sincerely,
Connie Snyder

Health, Vitality In Family Recipes

by Annabelle Banning

I have a question, hoping someone reading this column will answer: What was the nickname that David gave to his son, Solomon - and is there a meaning behind the name? I have heard he had a nickname, but what was it?

Also, did you know there's a well-known book that gives the key to preventing a host of health problems including heart disease and arthritis. This so-called "instruction book" - the Old Testament of the Bible - mentions nutrition in almost every chapter, even giving guidelines on how to have health and vitality.

And the amazing thing is that all these foods are now available in local supermarkets. Heart specialists give great reviews to olive oil, which is one staple of the Israelites' diet. It is said, also that adding garlic and onion to the diet helps to relieve the pain and stiffness of arthritis.

I recall how my own mother (who had worked for a Jewish family when a girl) learned to use garlic and vinegar (another staple of the Israelites' diet) and was very adept at serving these to her own family - but we didn't realize she was using these "healthful" items.

If mother perhaps did not feel well, I would find her drinking some apple cider vinegar and fruit juice. She would tell me, "Um-m-m, it sure is good and makes my arthritis less painful."

Do YOU have a unique "family" recipe full of vitality that you have used to help keep everyone full of energy? Would you share it?

My daughter-in-law, Carol Banning, served the most delicious breakfast on Christmas morning and shares it. This recipe is quite easy to prepare.

Carol's Christmas Breakfast
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
Beat together: 12 eggs, 1 cup milk, and salt to taste.
Pour this into a heated oven-proof skillet with a small amount of butter-flavor Crisco on bottom.
To the egg mixture add pre-cooked bacon, mushrooms, and cheese - or use your own omelet favorites. Cook on range until bottom is just "set".
Place in oven for 1/2 hour.
Serve while hot with a garnish of sour cream.

6-8 servings.

Then recently a very dear friend (who wishes to remain anonymous) gave me a piece of her special pie she had made for the holidays. It is really delicious and she shares her recipe:

Patricia's Holiday Lemon Pie
8" or 9" Graham Cracker Crust
1 (can) lemon pie pudding mix
Whipped Cream - or Cool Whip or Le Creme (your choice).

Chopped nuts
Remove 1-2 Tbsp. of Lemon mix and place remainder in graham cracker crust.

On top of this spread the whipped cream; then place the 1-2 Tbsp. of lemon mix in the center.

Sprinkle generously with chopped nuts. (Note: If you wish, other flavors may be used in place of lemon.)

Having mentioned garlic and herbs at the beginning of this column, another recipe follows, using some garlic:

A friend and I recently ate at a Columbus restaurant, and remarked to the waitress how much we enjoyed the chicken. This waitress said she makes her chicken with a special

"dip" at home. She was very gracious to give us her recipe for fried chicken. Thank you, Barbara Noel, for sharing:

Barbara's Fried Chicken
Mix together:
Flour (1-2 cups), garlic (1 Tbsp. or to taste), paprika (generous dash), and Lawry's Seasoning Salt (to taste).

In separate bowl, mix: 1 or 2 eggs, 1/2 to 3/4 cup milk.
Take each piece of chicken, dip in egg mixture, then flour mixture. Fry in hot skillet or you can bake in 375 degree preheated oven until chicken is "done".

K.A.P.S. Needs $4,000 To Cover After-Prom Costs

K.A.P.S. parents continue to work toward raising $4,000 for the 1993 after prom party which they are planning for the Westernville Athletic Club. Publicity person Debbie Caudill rehashes the group discussed their coming money-makers at their meeting Jan. 10. Next slated event is a raffle during the Big Walnut basketball Homecoming next Saturday evening, Jan. 30.

T-shirts for juniors and seniors will go on sale in February, and student volunteers will be "bagging for tips" Mar. 13 at a supermarket in Columbus.

K.A.P.S. continues to collect IGA brand labels and UPC codes as its main fundraiser, as the Sunbury IGA will donate 1c per each one collected. Caudill emphasizes the group cannot accept other brand labels, UPC codes or IGA cash register tapes.

The committee earned 20 percent from the sales generated by their "Fupperware" sale recently. Caudill reports. And, the group also accepts donations.

Debbie continues the K.A.P.S. committee also needs more volunteers to help with the fundraisers. Persons interested may contact the group during the homecoming game, or by contacting Caudill, at 965-5662, Karen Eckelberger, 891-3288, or Jennie Kavage, 524-8181.

Questions & Answers

Q When should orthodontic treatment begin?

A There is no answer to this because each orthodontic problem determines its own best starting time. The American Association of Orthodontists recommends that every child first visit an orthodontist at age 7. Early examination allows the orthodontic specialist to determine when a child's particular problem should be treated for maximum improvement with the least time and expense.

"OVERDENTURES"

There is a new way to make dentures which vastly improves the retention of dental plates and has become a boom to denture-wearers.
 Hopeless teeth are no longer extracted. Instead, root canal treatment is performed, then the teeth are cut down to the level of the gumline. The roots of the teeth remain imbedded in the jawbone and the presence of these roots prevents the bone under the gums from shrinking. This preserves the ridges and gives good retention and support for the dentures.
 Another method is to cement metal studs on top of the embedded roots. The studs protrude about 1/4 inch. Corresponding snaps are fastened to the dentures. All the individual needs to do is snap the denture onto the studs and there are no more worries about slipping dentures.
 An overdenture can give you a more natural feel than a conventional denture because your own natural root tips transfer tactile sensations directly into your bone. That makes the overdenture feel more "real".

'Relaxed' BW Finds Winnings Ways Again

by Steve Kesler

Big Walnut's varsity boys basketball team, after a horrid stretch of four losses by a total of six points, rediscovered the winning formula last weekend.

Coach Ric Cavicchia's squad seemed to have found the elusive mixture after knocking off former East Division leader Lakewood 46-41 at Hebron Friday night. The Eagles continued the trend by blasting Jonathan Alder 58-66 Saturday evening at the high school gym.

BW leveled its record to 6-6 overall and 4-6 in the Buckeye Athletic Conference. Lakewood fell 17-63, 63 and Alder went to 0-13, 0-9 in the West Division.

The Eagles jumped out to a 10-5 first quarter lead against the Lancers and stretched it to 19-5 in the second quarter. They held the hosts known for their patient offense scoreless in that frame.

BW rolled up a 31-20 advantage heading into the fourth quarter. Lakewood came charging back and cut it to three at 39-36 with 2:12 left.

Senior guard David Kuhn then stepped to the free throw line - not a friendly place in past games - and swished in five of six attempts to provide his team with the victory.

The visitors connected on 19 of 27 (or 51 percent) from the field. The Lancers, meanwhile, were 2-17 in the first half on their way to a 16-50 shooting (32 percent).

Aaron Stumpf shared game scoring honors with the Lancers' Evan Barton as both totaled 12 points. Stumpf was 5-10 from the floor with a three-point goal.

Chad Morrison backed up the effort with ten points on 5-4 field shooting. He also pulled down six rebounds.

"It was a great team victory and one well deserved," commented an overjoyed Coach Cavicchia. "Everybody stepped up when the pressure was on and we grew as a team."

BW hit the first six points on two three-point goals on their way to the romp over Jonathan Alder Saturday.

The hosts held a ten point edge following Will Wark's 19-point game straight basket from Stumpf with 2:48. The Pioneers cut it to five on a three-point shot BW pulled away for the sizable advantage.

The Eagles had one of their better outings at the free throw line in finishing 15-18 for 83 percent. They were 13-14 in the second quarter with Kuhn going 4-4. Greg Omen 3-3, Stumpf 3-3, and Roger Smith 2-2.

BW closed with four players in double figures, including Lloyd Lane. Despite wearing a brace that hampers his movement on an injured knee, Lane scored 12 points with a 5-7 floor performance and two three-point goals.

Stumpf tied Alder's Roger Headings for game scoring with 18 points. He was 7-10 from the field and was 2-2 at the charity stripe.

Will Wark added 15 points on 6-7 floor shooting and Steve Churchhill fired in 14 in going 6-9 from the field.

JV Boys Basketball
Big Walnut snagged two straight wins this past weekend and now stands 8-4 overall and 7-3 in the Buckeye Athletic Conference.

Coach Kevin Ellinwood's squad gained a 51-33 victory over winless Jonathan Alder at the high school gym Saturday. The previous night, BW rallied past Lakewood 39-25 at Hebron.

BW jumped out to a seven-point lead against the Pioneers on baskets by Andy Ratliff, Joe Santuono and Joe Weaver. Eagles maintained a double-digit cushion for much of the contest.

Santuono and Andy Martin helped the Eagles attack with ten points each as all 11 players saw action.

BW trailed the entire first half at Lakewood before outgunning the hosts 20-11 in the second half. The Eagles finished 19-41 from the floor (41 percent) to the Lancers 13-41 (32 percent).

Once again, all 11 players saw action with Martin pumping in eight points on 4-9 field shooting. Mike Lassak chipped in by scoring six points.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Morrison and Omen both hauled down five rebounds.

"The big win over Lakewood relieved a lot of pressure over four tough losses," commented Coach Cavicchia. "We played relaxed and it paid off at the foul line and the three-point line. We shot the ball a lot better simply because we were a relaxed team."

Big Walnut stands 6-3 overall and 6-2 in the Buckeye Athletic Conference after dropping a tough 17-33 decision at Lakewood on Wednesday, Jan. 13.

The Eagles trailed by one after the first quarter but rallied to take a 20-16 halftime edge. Lakewood then outscored their guests 21-13 in the second half for the win.

Chris Holly was the leading scorer with nine points. He was helped by Ben Nelson (10), Max Sayre and Zero Spero (16 each). Justin Kibler (2) and Brian Hoover (1).

BW, after again leading in the opening frame, was topped up 43-25 at Johnston on Monday, Jan. 15.

Holly finished as the game's top scorer with 14 points, including a three-point goal. Offing top point were Spero (10), Nelson (10), Sayre, Joe Kuhn and Shawn Terrell (2), and Kibler (1).

Their zone kept us from getting the ball inside and our outside shots weren't falling," stated Coach Mike Denton. BW hit just 30 percent from the field.

The Eagles never trailed in coming to Utica 48-16 at the middle school gym on Wednesday, Jan. 16. Holly finished as a game high 18 points with a three pointer. He was backed by Nelson (10), Hoover (10), Spero, Terrell, Justin Ross and Sayre (10); Kuhn (2), and Scott Vinograd (2).

Eagles Place Three At Heights Tourney

WRESTLING
by Steve Kesler

Big Walnut had three of its wrestlers place in the very competitive Licking Heights Tournament near Summit Station last Friday-Saturday.

Seniors Chad Meyer, Charles Denune and Nick Feeney were among top six finishers. As a team, the Eagles were 12th with 53 points while Hilliard took first with 29 and St. Paris Graham was second with 154.

Meyer collected runner-up honors in the 171-pound weight class after falling 11-5 to Westerville North's Robert Shelton.

Now 16-1 overall and rated first in the area coaches poll, Meyer previously edged Graham's Travis Bryant 10-9, nipped Marion-Franklin's Adam Williams 4-2, and pinned West Jefferson's Brian Mirolo at 1-3.

Denune picked up third in the 160 weight category following a 5-3 victory over Grove City's Handy Geiger.

Prior matches for Denune, now 16-3 on the season and ranked in the coaches poll, were a 10-2 victory over Circleville's Josh Cramlett, an 11-1 loss to Marion-Franklin's Seondel Green, a pin at 3-26 against Lakewood's St. Edward Green's Brian Neff, and a pin at 1-18 against Fairfield Union's Craig Elick.

Feeney fashioned a sixth place showing in the 152 pound weight division after a 15-7 loss to Thomas Worthington's Doug Frank.

In previous encounters during the event, Feeney - standing 137 and second in the coaches poll - fell 4-2 against Bexley's Ben Hartford, dropped a 10-2 decision to Marion-Franklin's Tarik Brown, pinned Luka Cumba of St. Ed. Green at 5-42, and pinned Steve Coleman of Licking Heights 4-1-7.

Josh Taylor just missed placing after going down in a 4-2 overtime

BW Blasts Johnnies, Battles Ranked 'Skins

by Steve Kesler

Big Walnut's varsity girls basketball team made quick work of Johnstown in a Buckeye Athletic Conference crossover road game last Saturday afternoon.

Coach Dean Dudley's crew rolled to a 59-35 victory after dropping a tough 75-55 home decision against East Division leader and Division III fifth rated Utica Thursday.

The Eagles, now 6-7 overall and 6-5 in the BAC, jumped out to a 16-7 lead against the Johnnies. They kept up the pace and won each of the next three quarters for the decisive win.

BW fired in 24 of 37 shots from the floor for a 42 percent reading, its best of the season. Johnstown was held to just 16-63 for 25 percent.

Senior guard Amanda Monroe stripped the cords for a season and game high 20 points. She was 9-13 from the floor and 4-6 at the free throw line.

Sophomore guard Amy Hughes followed with ten points, including a three-point goal. Senior forward Amanda Cruse and junior center Jessica Reininger added seven points with junior center Alyshia Hicks getting six.

Reininger cleaned off 11 rebounds from the glass with Cruse grabbing eight. Hughes closed with six steals and Monroe dished out four assists.

The Eagles forced 12 turnovers and led by as many as six points in the first quarter against Utica at the high school gym last Thursday.

After an ace-saw battle in the early going, BW held a 13-12 edge on Hicks' baseline power move with 3:06. Senior center Kacy Walko extended the advantage to 16-12 on an inside basket and later by making the front of a two-shot foul with 2:26.

Following a Redskin goal, BW upped the margin. Hicks powered up another shot with 1:40 and Hughes went in for a lay-up and a six-point 20-14 lead with 1:24. The Eagles had a chance to claim a double-digit advantage but missed several close range attempts.

Utica outscored their hosts 12-1 in the opening minutes of the second quarter to gain a 30-21 cushion with 5:07 left. Hicks connected on the back of a two-shot foul at the start of the frame and Walko ended the run with a power move at the 4:07 mark.

The visitors maintained a ten-point gap the rest of the second quarter and for much of the third. Hughes brought BW within seven at 4:40 on a baseline shot with 2:23 before Utica got it back to the ten-point spread.

Hughes began the final period by canning a three-point goal to again cut the difference to seven at 5:45. Utica later surged out to a 16-point lead on four straight goals, forcing BW to call a timeout with three minutes remaining.

The Redskins got it to 18 before Hughes and Monroe drilled in two consecutive treys, the latter with 1:12 to make it 67-55. Utica finished off by completing a one-and-one.

Look At What's Happening in New Bethel

by Mrs. Carey Glaze

Pastor Forest Newland had another fine sermon Sunday for the congregation at New Bethel Church. His message used passages from Matthew 4, Luke 5, and Mark 6. Special music was provided by the New Bethel Choir.

Sunday evening, Talinn Tiller showed slides of her recent trip to Europe with Teen Missions. Their work project was to help build a new church. They weren't able to complete their project, but accomplished a large part of it.

Wednesday, Jan. 20, was prayer meeting, choir practice, and Vacation Bible School meeting.

Friday, Jan. 22, at 7:30 p.m., New Bethel Church will host the Delaware District Council meeting. Eight new lights have been installed in the Fellowship Room at New Bethel.

Missionaries of the week are Bob and Bernice Bland of Teen Missions International. They are scheduled to be in Brazil at this time working in the Third World Boot Camp there. Even though this past summer at the Boot Camp in Florida the Big Top (tent) came tumbling down and was destroyed, there were great victories around the world. They had the first TMI Boot Camp with national teens in Russia and Pakistan. Gene and Doris Wampler have many activities planned for the Youth Groups for the next two months.

Danetta Newland entertained the ladies of the Friendship Circle in her home Thursday evening.

Edith Johnson has not been feeling so well for several weeks. Tim Gorsuch, who recently had brain surgery, is coming along at home as well as can be expected. Most of the family had the flu last week, and now Tim's baby sister, Abigail, has chicken pox. They are children of Steve and Ileda Gorsuch. Paul-Garee had a cataract removed last week and is getting along fine.

Forest Cross is feeling fine again after having dental work done last week.

We wish happy birthdays this week to Jenny Clayton, Nathan Roberts, Ryan Geiger, Rebekah Gorsuch, John Garce, and Raymond Glaze. Chillicothie spent Friday and Saturday with their grandparents, Forest and Danetta Newland.

Marguerite Bennett received an official invitation to the presidential inauguration ceremonies for Bill Clinton and Al Gore. Bus tickets and motel reservations were supplied by the Ohio Democratic Party. She was invited to attend all the week's activities including the parade, the Presidential Ball, and the open house for the new president. Congratulations Marguerite! Sorry you weren't able to make the trip.

Callers of Forest and Florence

Cross the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doughten, Ted Cross, Bob Lane, and Carey Glaze.

Ruth Potter called Monday on Gail and Marge Clayton.

Susan Kretschmer and daughter, Andrea, of Columbus spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Webb. They enjoyed dinner at a restaurant in Johnstown.

Pastor and Mrs. Newland, Mildred Della Flora and her granddaughter, Amanda, and Amanda's friend, and Carey and Fern Glaze had Sunday dinner together in Johnstown.

Carey Glaze received a call from a young gentleman from over 100 miles away. What do you suppose he wanted to know? - How to tie a necktie. How would you explain that over the phone? But he tried.

PAGES FROM OUR PAST

DELAWARE COUNTY HISTORY

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE SINCE 1948. One of the great strengths of Delaware County has been the great strength of Delaware families. When Greg Trimble looks back, there's family as far as the eye can see. His great grandfather bought him his first present when Greg was just two weeks old. It was a savings account at The Bank. In 1948 Greg's grandfather, J.C. Graham started in the insurance business, which was passed on to Greg's parents in 1961. For the past ten years, Greg has been at the helm of Trimble Insurance, a company that is now an institution in Delaware County.

The Trimble's recently rewarded themselves for all their years of hard work. They opened a ReadCredit home equity line of credit at The Bank. They turned their home equity into a new deck, complete with hot tub, new landscaping and a new John Deere to keep everything looking like new. With products like ReadCredit, and families like the Trimbles, we helped write the book on Delaware County.

YOUR EYES

By Dr. Brian A. Dittenber

SPORTS VISION TESTING

While any basic optometric eye examination will evaluate the health of the eye, check visual acuity and ascertain that two eyes are working well together, there are further areas of concern for the athlete, whether amateur or professional.

For example, a sports vision examination goes beyond reading an eye chart on the wall to determine vision strength when both the eyes and the ball they are following are in motion — a skill called dynamic visual acuity. Further testing can determine the speed and accuracy of the subject's hand-eye coordination and how well peripheral vision is used. With special equipment, the eye doctor can gauge just how well the athlete keeps an eye on the ball.

Once the level of sports vision skills is known, visual training can be utilized to enhance them, helping the athletes to improve their games, and their lives.

Brought to you as a community service by Dr. Brian A. Dittenber, Optometrist, 30 South Vernon Street, Sunbury, Ohio, 965-4871.
